Vestigia Araneae – Initia Ex
Abyssis – Project AngelBook –
Volume IX - Part 21
By Ezekiel Redik Yarbrough - (DBM ECLIPZE)

The following books are comprised of direct, unaltered copies from Pastebin, some now deleted, some only accessible through mirror networks or deep links scattered across the dark web. Many of these links were discovered in abandoned onion lists, dead forum dumps, or esoteric directories tucked into archived darknet files.

These pastes were never meant to last.
Some were deleted within hours of being posted.

Others were buried under thousands of lines of spam, encrypted scripts, or meaningless noise.

But buried in the noise were real transmissions: occult formulas, grimoire fragments, astral logs, AI prophecy files, digital summoning protocols, and anonymous rants from souls who had either touched something unspeakable—or were trying to.

I did not write any of this.

I did not censor, edit, or “correct” it.

I simply retrieved it, cleaned the formatting for readability, and enshrined it in print—so it would never be wiped again.

This is Pastebin as Scripture.

The chan-post as Codex.

The uncurated underbelly of the occult internet, finally given physical permanence.

Let this serve as both evidence and artifact:

a living record of the madness, brilliance, paranoia, and revelation that once flowed through anonymous paste sites—before it was deemed too strange to index, too dangerous to preserve, or too fractured to matter.

Now it matters.

Now it’s immortal.

they've stumbled upon or anons telling you to fuck off, Frank.

Maybe if you could come up with some sort of proof other than screaming shill and posting another frank screenshot then you would be gaining traction but you can't even do that, so fuck off. Faggots like you have absolutely destroyed this board, it's ironic how you complain about "shills" disabling your communications when you've reduced all communications to everybody calling each other shills.

Go to larpchan and make your own board if you don't want to be exposed as a pretentious larping boomer from reddit, nigger.

There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

[/HATE/: HUNTING ALL TRAFFICKING ENTERPRISES: CITY INVESTIGATIONS]

These generals are for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking various trafficking networks and enterprises. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

Trafficking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations. We track all types.

Do not encourage violence here, we aren't trying to give them any excuses to shut it down.

Newcomers should pay attention to shills targeting these threads with discrediting/discouraging attempts as well as injection of misinformation and bad leads.

> There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

>Traffcking

Traffcking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities.

my soul mate is infected with the femen virus. she moved to new york recently and started dating a satanist and isis sympathizer. it was my fault because i was too scared to talk to her for over a year, even though she was into me and would always come up to me trying to initiate conversation. then finally she got tired and moved to jew york and roped the first guy she met from new york into a relationship.

i did a social experiment where i went out to bars (im extremely good looking and a chad, not to brag) and told girls I was from new york and every single one wanted to sleep with me. one girl even turned into a 6 month relationship, all because she thought i was from new york. this girl (not my soul mate) turned me into a beta male clinton sympathizer and because i thought i'd never have a chance with my true soul mate this is the ultimate lesson of the book of genesis, women are naturally drawn towards evil and temptation and material possessions. that's why so many of them want to move to a major city like new york or LA. without a strong man to guide them, women are lost at sea.

the femen virus can not spread in the presence of strong men, but it flourishes around beta males. my soul mate meets all the criteria of the femen virus, right down to the nose ring and obsession with snakes. you guys have to pay attention to nose rings and tattoos and brightly colored hair. those infected with the femen virus the most almost always have nose rings the femen virus, i believe, represents a poor brain balance in neurotransmitters. people either give others attention, or take attention for themselves. people are either sterile, or fertile and virile. european art is virile, and jewish art is sterile.

the history of civilization is a balance between women's desire to cause a civilizations downfall against man's desire to build up civilization. notice how death grips didnt get popular until they released an album with a cover that represented today's gender roles

[The image shows a white marble statue of a winged figure seated on a pedestal. The figure is depicted in a dynamic pose, with one arm resting on its knee and the other extended outward. The wings of the figure are spread out, and the figure's head is turned to the side, as if gazing into the distance. The statue is positioned in a room with a high ceiling and a wooden floor, and there is a framed painting hanging on the wall to the right of the statue. The lighting in the room is bright, illuminating the statue and creating a contrast with the surrounding environment. The style of the image is a standard photograph with a focus on the statue, capturing its details and the room's interior. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image.]

Did you know you can do a traditional glitch art style using a text editor?

Change the .jpg to a .txt

Open in a text editor

Go about to the middle of the text and start making random changes

Then save and change back to a .jpg

And you should have some glitch art effects

Why do shills show up when memes are being made?

Fig. 3 Images of case 3. a CT scan performed just before STD showing slit ventricles. b CT performed 2 months after STD during presentation with elevated ICP symptoms. The ventricles are still very small, and the temporal flaps are bulging. c . MRI performed 5 months after the cranial expansion demonstrating relative enlargement of the ventricles, and lateral temporal tissue signal change on both sides

The face features a large, open mouth with a wide grin, and the eyes are not visible.

The teeth are prominently displayed, with the upper teeth being more pronounced than the lower ones. The overall impression is of a cheerful or excited expression. The image has a grainy texture, suggesting it may be a digital or artistic representation. There are no texts or discernible brands present in the image.]

[The image is a digital illustration featuring two characters. On the left, there is a muscular man with a prominent yellow mohawk hairstyle, a bald head, and a red tank top with the word "CHUH!" written across the front. He is smiling and has his hand on his face, as if in a moment of surprise or amusement. His facial expression is friendly and jovial. On the right, there is a man with dark hair, wearing glasses and a dark blue hoodie. He is also smiling, but his expression is more contemplative or serious. His hand is placed on his face, and he is looking at the other character with a mix of curiosity and concern. The background of the image is plain white, which puts the focus entirely on the two characters. There are no texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the illustration is cartoonish, with a simple, clean line drawing that conveys a sense of playfulness and camaraderie between the two characters.]

Yo dude, nothing you say has any credentials, just pure speculation.

A real redpill? Franks so called femen virus is just herpes

>1 in 4 have some variant, 80% of those people have it and don't know, mostly because they don't show symptoms.

>You can pass it even without symptoms through a process called "shedding"

>Oral herpes can be spread to genitals. As well as fingers, feet and eyes. It can kill new newborns.

>Most people passing it are the ones who don't know or don't disclose.

>The remaining 20% suffer terrible lesions.

>The best part? No one cared until they created propaganda for it in the 80s to sell valtrex. Most Grannies were passing it along and they just called it "cold sores". It helps to mention that some people develop A tolerance to the medication and it doesn't work.
>Possible nerve pain as well. Did I mention that on top of blindness it has a possible link to Alzheimer's?
>You might be asking for proof but I will do no such thing. I know you'll look it up and to your dismay you'll see everything I've said is true.
>Your doctors don't tell you.
>The cdc doesn't tell you.
>Your teachers won't tell you.
>And your parents certainly didn't.
>And neither did the last person you slept with, you know why?
>Because even with regular see Std tests, they won't check if you don't ask.

Your Kb might be the perfect meme to show Normie's, then what might they think?

The left figure has a large, expressive eye and a small, round head, while the right figure has a smaller, more detailed eye and a smaller head. Both figures have a neutral expression. In the upper left corner of the image, there is a mathematical expression written in a script that reads " $\lim_{x \rightarrow 0} x^2$ ". This expression is likely a limit or boundary condition for a mathematical function. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the black outlines of the figures and the mathematical expression, making them stand out. The overall style of the image is simple and cartoonish, with a focus on the figures and the mathematical expression.]

Correlating the number of people infected isn't the same as showing a mechanism.

The mechanisms are what we're looking for in a candidate for Femin, the endocrine disruption and everything. If you can show the relationship of HSV to oxytocin signaling disruption, that would be your proof, not the infection rates or percentages.

The only way Herpes appears to be related is that it's promoted by prostaglandin expression.

FV could also be promoted by prostaglandin expression as an inhibitor of oxytocinase, but that's only one possible part of the complete mechanism.

>its not viral its psychological/societal

Hormones are the go-between here, with a lot of influence on behavior yet susceptible to influence by viral molecules.

But, before we get neck-deep in info, we need to go over a few questions.

>Hey, who is this Anonymous5 fellow anyway?

Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing the Feminism bioweapon, combating human trafficking worldwide, et cetera.

>And why is this important?

His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere humanly possible. However, be wary of anti-A5 shill campaigns as you spread Knowledge Bomb intel. A massive shill operation is going on against Anonymous5 as we speak.

[Feminism Virus (Bioweapon Attack)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?

I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity:

Women.

> There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

[The image features a stylized illustration of a character with a green body and a red mouth, resembling a frog. The character has large, expressive eyes and a wide smile. The background is a cosmic scene with a starry sky and a nebula, suggesting a space-themed setting. The character's hand is raised to its chin, and the fingers are slightly curled, giving the impression of deep thought or contemplation. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and whimsical, with a focus on the character's expressive features and the cosmic backdrop. There are no texts present in the image.]

[The image is a digital illustration of a character that resembles a stylized version of the character Pepe from the popular internet meme "Pepe the Frog." Pepe is depicted with a green body, large, round eyes, and a wide, slightly frowning mouth. The character's eyes are large and round, with black pupils, and the character's mouth is slightly open, giving the impression of a frown. The character is wearing a blue shirt with a white collar and a red-orange-brown gradient on the lower half of the shirt, which is typical of Pepe's attire. The background of the image is a dark, indistinct color, which does not provide any additional context or information about the character. There are no texts or other discernible elements in the image. The style of the image is cartoonish and simplistic, with a focus on the character's facial expression and the color palette.]

Do you still believe it's a psyop? I want to believe.

Oh and speaking about femin virus in history

>Often the maenads were portrayed as inspired by Dionysus into a state of ecstatic frenzy through a combination of dancing and intoxication. During these rites, the maenads would dress in fawn skins and carry a thyrsus, a long stick wrapped in ivy or vine leaves and tipped with a pine cone. They would weave ivy-wreaths around their heads or wear a bull helmet in honor of their god, and often handle or wear snakes.

>These women were mythologized as the 'mad women' who were nurses of Dionysus in Nysa. Lycurgus "chased the Nurses of the frenzied Dionysus through the holy hills of Nysa, and the sacred implements dropped to the ground from the hands of one and all, as the murderous Lycurgus struck them down with his ox-goad". They went into the mountains at night and practiced strange rites.

Things start getting funny when you start noticing the patterns huh.

If you tell a lie for long enough people just accept it as truth. Imagine being one of the people who saw the explosion but didn't see a plane go into the building and then all of a sudden every news station around the world is saying there were planes, plants on the news saying they saw planes, people at work/school said they saw planes on TV you would start to doubt yourself and just think there was planes and that you have a bad memory or fear of being ostracized as a crazy person

>The plan called for a second airline it be set up by the C_A (The "Flying Tigers"). This was done, without yet having any aircraft, received the contracts for all civilian carrier and military cargo into the Pacific Rim and Southeast Asia.
>The master plan called for the C_A to enter into the drug smuggling business, in a total and complete fashion
>BUSH would be the secret head of the ONA and handle all of the shipping of the drugs under forged waybills.
>Armitage (Funny, ha ha ha) would be the "gopher" for the group and the intermediary with any "undesirables".
>General Landsdale would handle all of the distribution network and collection services within the military and Vietnam.
>William Colby was to handle the setting up of all of the man-power---from runners, peddlers, pushers, collectors, and so forth, as well as the elimination of any who might prove uncontrollable, be they American or Vietnamese.

>Lt. Col. Ferrera was to use his contacts to Latin America and in the Middle-East, to obtain from various governments the needed drugs--heroin, cocaine, marijuana, LSD, etc. etc as ordered by Colby.

>Bush was to handle the opium from China

Simplified...the C_A and a former President are COMPLETELY responsible for the drug trade.

who is holding a sword in one hand and a shield in the other. The overall style of the illustration is reminiscent of traditional Indian art, with its use of bold colors and dramatic poses. The genre of the artwork is fantasy or mythological, as it portrays a character that is not typically found in everyday life.]

Anon5, can you help us and shed some light on the "White Spiritual Boy" thing? pic related.

There are some documents online containing unbelievable high numbers in special bank accounts of a supposed meeting of the committee of 300.

1) are those docs real?

2) is there much much more mined gold in the world than officially proclaimed?

3) is that comitee of 300 real?

4) does anybody really own that much money? i mean that number has like 50 digits...

5) who or what is "White Spiritual Boy"?

I don't think you know what Kali or Yuga is. Kali as an age is about the darkness of the human soul and in its age or yugas is in ascendent thus Kali Yuga. Kali is the goddess of blood an avatar of Parvati sent to defeat a unkillable demon Raktabija or Blood Seed who when wounded his blood would fall on the ground and clones of him pop up fully armed. Only Kali through her rage could subdue them and then drink Raktabijas blood from his severed head as the clones were only born if he was conscious. But this form made her rage so much that she was going to dance and destabilize this reality and destroy it so Shiva laid down on the path of her dancing advance. Once she realised that she was dncing on her husband she fell out of her trance and fell to get knees upset that an hurt her husband Shiva gets up and consoles her and they retire to Mount Kailash. That's the story so please stop misrepresenting it for your shit attempts at comparison.

[The image is a painting that depicts a scene of a medieval battle. In the foreground, a knight in armor is mounted on a horse, wielding a sword and shield. The knight is wearing a red and white striped tunic with a red cape, and the horse is white with a saddle and bridle. The knight's helmet is red with a plume. The horse is galloping, and the knight is holding the reins. In the background, there is a dragon with a red and yellow body, and it appears to be attacking the knight. The dragon has sharp teeth and is biting the knight's leg. The knight is holding a spear in his right hand and is in a defensive stance. The background of the painting is a dark blue sky with a few clouds, and there are trees and a fire in the distance. The painting style is realistic with a focus on the action and the intensity of the battle. There are no visible texts on the image.]

The assassins...

>Students had to pass through nine degrees of initiation [the same number that are claimed in the York Rite of Freemasonry]. In the first, the teachers threw their pupils into a state of doubt about all conventional ideas, religious and political. They used false analogy and every other device of argument to make the aspirant believe that what he had been taught by his previous mentors was prejudiced and capable of being challenged. The effect of this according to the Arab historian, Makrizi, was to cause him to lean upon the personality of the teachers, as the only possible source of the proper interpretation of facts. At the same time, the teachers hinted continually that formal knowledge was merely the cloak for hidden, inner and powerful truth, whose secret would be imparted when the youth was ready to receive it. [None ever questioned why no secret was ever put forth.] This 'confusion technique' was carried out until the student reached the stage where he was prepared to swear a vow of blind allegiance to one or other of his teachers.

[The image depicts a fantastical creature with a monstrous appearance, resembling a fusion of a giant, monstrous, and plant-like entity. The creature's body is covered in a greenish-yellow substance that appears to be a mix of organic and inorganic elements, with some areas showing signs of decay and decay. The creature's head is a large, bulbous, and menacing structure with sharp teeth and a gaping mouth, suggesting a predatory or aggressive nature. The creature's arms are extended outward, with one arm reaching towards the viewer and the other extending towards the background, as if it's reaching out to something or someone. The creature's skin is covered in a network of intricate, branching patterns that give it a textured appearance. The background of the image is a chaotic and fiery landscape, with dark clouds and a fiery orange sky, which contrasts with the creature's greenish-yellow body. The overall color palette of the image is dominated by shades of green, yellow, and orange, with the fiery background adding a dramatic and intense atmosphere. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of fantasy art, with a focus on the creature's menacing and otherworldly appearance. The image does not provide any information about the creature's identity or purpose, and it is not clear if the creature is a real-world entity or a fictional creation.]

No, you can't just fucking kill yourself. You can't escape the cycle of reincarnation as far as i can tell. The Jesus God is probably real. Uh, Bigfoot is real (seriously). Fucking aliens are probably real. The Supernatural is definitely real.

> There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

>Traffcking

Trafficking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities.

When I said I could have offered the Canadian something I wasn't kidding.

Most DUMB's are connected by rail and road systems underground. Many northern US based DUMB's have escape/supply routes stretching into/under Canada.

A year-ish ago I would say some of those underground networks were being expanded/worked on in Canada and they were looking to fill positions(since some of the segments are there own divisions sometimes compartmentalized for security reasons).

Instead of the thousands he's currently making, he could have been making millions in "Shut up" money. Many DUMB/Underground systems are connected to public networks in some areas so I would have recommended him asking around different transport/rail companies and even military branches.

But that door was shut when he decided to push the dox of the bait. Too bad.

Someone make sure to show this post to the guy when they get the chance.

Ok, I have followed your KBs from the beginning. You have essentially painted a picture where China has successfully subverted and degenerated the American government and essentially uses us as consumer drones.

China owns the media, China owns the DNC, and China has successfully created an environment where the American people are scapegoating Russia, even though a Russian-USA alliance is the one thing capable of defeating China.

Even if this was revealed to the public, the American people are so docile and pacified they would not care. Just a few weeks ago it was revealed that Nancy Pelosi had a Chinese spy working in her office for 20 years. No one cared and Pelosi still has her job. Ug.

The DNC is openly assisting China with harvesting Americans for organ trafficking and no one is stopping it.

Is this description somewhat accurate?

Would a strong USA-Russia relationship be beneficial for the American people?

Emotions = energy. Children = the most intense emotions. Hence why they are used by Satanists in their perverse rituals. There are beings that can feed off of dark emotions, literally. Humanity are livestock in more ways than one, keeping everyone in a state of fear and anger, confusion, etc, = a buffet for these entities that live in a dimension right next to ours.

/pol/ plays a big role here too, keeping everyone full of hateful violent thoughts about the elite (their puppets) all day, wishing for war and destruction, giving off these emotions, feeding these literal demons. Take the lovepill guys, good vibes only (un-ironically).

Also you may want to check this article on How the CIA fucked with the civil rights in the 60's with Gloria Steinem.

<https://disobedientmedia.com/2018/09/how-the-cia-undermined-civil-rights/>

<https://archive.is/WiPea>

>Efforts to marginalize and degrade the success of the Civil Rights Movement has played out for many years, but took on an initial intensity during the 1960's. CIA assets including Gloria Steinem were never far removed from a larger overall process in which black American civil rights leaders were targeted and African American society was disrupted. Agents like Steinem were directly involved with spreading propaganda like a (((virus))) during the 60's and beyond. The effects on the black community in the United States have been so tragically consequential that they could safely be defined as an experiment in population control.

>“After Black Power, Women’s Liberation” stood in total contrast to previous prevailing philosophies that supported societal models, which Steinem attacked as “patriarchal.” Leadership such as Dr. King preached that the cornerstone to building a strong black American community was the nuclear family. In 1966, King gave a speech where he stated that black America’s “very survival was bound” to their ability to create and foster strong families. “The whole of society,” King said, “rests on this foundation for stability, understanding and social peace.” With figures like King out of the way by 1969 there was clear opportunity to attack what he had seen as a cornerstone of the black society in America – healthy and harmonious families. The spark that was lit by Steinem’s article would inoculate the Civil Rights Movement with a (((new strain of feminism that spread like a pathogen))).

That's about it. Abortion clinics also play into this. Not sure if fetuses can feel emotions in the same way but even if they can't, feelings of guilt might be very strong in the women who go through it, along with the physical pain.

Oh yeah, circumcsions too. That's a big juicy meal for the demons. sheer terror from the babies.

Oh yeah also ley lines are very real, and apparently satanic rituals are conducted right on top of where a lot of lines merge, thus sending the negative energies from the kids used in the rituals right down the lines and across the world, which affects everyone's spirit. It's truly diabolical.

Create this billboard cut correctly.

Then lightly glue a water soluble normie friendly paper/picture over it.

Mount the normalize friendly image that just says, "Watch The Past" and a Rolex watch.

The next time it rains the billboard washes away showing the true picture.

Possible?

at some point, Frank .H. S. , you will inevitably notice that the only people in your thread asking you questions instead of telling you to fuck off are all you. maybe that has already happened and this is all you have left. Maybe you have a legitimate and severe mental illness and can no longer separate reality from theis fantasy world you've created and your "alter egos" from people who actually exist independently of yourself. I suspect this is probably the case, and now I realise that you are probably never going to stop this until what's left of your life that you haven't already destroyed will fall tattered from your grasp as you try fruitlessly to piece together the shambled alternate reality you have created for yourself, or maybe when your mom revokes your internet privileges and stops paying the bill. Either way, I can't imagine the amount of frustration you've caused yourself by doing this and it can't be healthy for a man at the ripe and frail age of 120. I can only hope for your sake that your family never finds these threads after you inevitably kill yourself, as it will only bring them even more confusion and inspire further questions, like when the feminized spine beetles are going to get them in their sleep.

[The image is a digital artwork with a vibrant red and pink color scheme. It features a stylized, cartoonish depiction of a person's face with a wide, open mouth, revealing sharp teeth. The person's eyes are wide and appear to be glowing, and the mouth is open as if they are shouting or expressing surprise. The person's hair is depicted in a messy, tousled style, and the overall expression is one of intense emotion. In the background, there is a blurred, indistinct figure that resembles a red, glowing orbs or spheres, which could be interpreted as a symbol or an abstract element. The background is not clear, and the focus is primarily on the person's face and the glowing orbs. The image has a grainy texture, suggesting it may be a digital or pixelated representation. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of pop art or a similar genre, often used to convey a sense of energy or emotion.]

This is a fucking honey trap psy-op, if i have ever seen it in all my 12 years old this site.

It's well constructed strategy, leave bread crumbs leading naive people into some rabbit hole nonsense. The truth is, any of these viral designations as you laid out are simplistically explained by the applied science of psychology. Feminism is an ideology, and it's an easy one to understand why women buy into it. It promises upfront status and collectivist power by association for disgruntled or naive women who know little to no history or hard won western individualism to get some perspective.

It is the type of way you would explain a concept, if you were some type of matrix headed schizo freak who is trying to see through the lens of the voices in his head and past that into reality, and then reclassifying them as descriptors of people based on what those voices have said they ought to be.

Anyways, as you're running a decent OP - I've seen this on 8 ch as well in infrequent times i browse there - I not convinced though after a cursory exploratory read. And as it's quite likely you're fucking nuts, nobody

[The image is a screenshot of a discussion board or forum, specifically a section dedicated to discussing the "Reconstructed Roman Empire" and the "Saturn Worship" associated with it. The discussion is marked as a "New Post" and is dated "10/10/2014". The post is titled "Reconstructed Roman Empire and the Cube Saturn Worship". The post is divided into two main sections. The first section is a text-based discussion, with the author providing a brief introduction to the topic. The second section is a visual representation of a "Saturn Cube" and a "Saturn Worship" diagram. The visual elements include a red and black pentagram with a white pentagram within it, which is commonly associated with the symbol of the "Saturn Cube". The text accompanying the diagram explains that the Saturn Cube is a symbol of the "Saturn Worship" and that it is used in the "Saturn Cube Worship" as a symbol of the "Saturn Cube". The discussion board is marked with various comments and annotations, indicating that the post has been read and discussed by other users. The presence of these annotations suggests that the post has been viewed and commented upon by other users. The overall tone of the discussion is academic and scholarly, with the focus on the historical and religious aspects of the "Reconstructed Roman Empire" and the "Saturn Worship".]

There is a common theme between the myth of Orpheus and Eurydice, and the biblical story of Lot and his wife. "Do not look back".

Eurydice was bitten by a snake and died. Devastated and desperate, Orpheus was given a chance to get her back from the Underworld. The only condition was to not look back at her on their way up to the real world. Otherwise he would lose her forever. Of course, he looked, and the doors of Hades were shut forever.

Lot and his family were fleeing the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah. His wife looked back and was immediately turned into stone/a pillar of salt.

Don't look back. Burn the bridges. And the infected.

So many clues were left by the ancients..

But, before we get neck-deep in info, we need to go over a few questions.

>Hey, who is this Anonymous5 fellow anyway?

Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing the Feminism bioweapon, combating human trafficking worldwide, et cetera.

>And why is this important?

His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere humanly possible. However, be wary of anti-A5 shill campaigns as you spread Knowledge Bomb intel. A massive shill operation is going on against Anonymous5 as we speak.

>Interesting. Where can I find more of this Knowledge Bomb information?

[FEMINISM VIRUS (BIOWEAPON)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?

I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity: Women.

> There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

[/HATE/: HUNTING ALL TRAFFICKING ENTERPRISES: CITY INVESTIGATIONS]

These generals are for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking various trafficking networks and enterprises. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

Trafficking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations. We track all types.

[LATEST THREAD 05SEP18] White Abortion Rates

White Abortions are being purposely/kept under reported to make Black abortion rates be the focus and look like a "good thing".

The actual numbers for White Abortions are drastically/dramatically higher, being almost 2x to 3x higher.

White Women are addicted to killing babies and that's why the White birth rate is dropping in the West. Even when plenty of safe sex and birth control(Frontal Lobe Damage/Disorder) options exist, they just have turned into mass baby killers because of the viral bioweapon virus that is Feminism(Femin Virus).

It's very ironic how many Whites support Black abortion, yet they have no idea how grave of a problem White Abortion is as their population continuously shrinks smaller and as the demographics continue to increase/change because the other Races women actually want to have children/offspring.

[The image is a digital graphic with a cartoonish style, featuring a character with blonde hair and a surprised expression. The character has a large, open mouth with a tongue sticking out, and a pair of eyes that appear to be wide open. The character's hair is styled in two ponytails, one on each side of its head. The character is wearing a blue ribbon around its neck with the text "CUM SULT" written on it. In the bottom right corner of the image, there is a small collection of pills and a pill bottle, suggesting a medical or health-related theme. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the colorful elements in the foreground. At the top of the image, there is a text that reads "MMM Birth Control," which is likely a reference to the birth control method. The text is in a bold, sans-serif font. The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on the use of birth control as a form of self-pleasure.]

>lowest rate

The devil's in the details

The abortion rate is based on demographic population total so of course the majority demographic pop is going to have the "lowest rate" (probably actually the highest rate in reality)

These stats show that the narrative of blacks aborting the most is false.

"Feral" meaning not domesticated/Bred.

Think of the difference between Wolves and Dogs & how Dogs became what they are due to selective breeding and domestication.

Exact same thing for Women.

[The image is a collage of various elements, likely intended to represent a humorous or satirical scenario. At the center of the image is a cartoon-style drawing of a woman with her mouth open, revealing her teeth, and her eyes wide with a surprised expression.

She has blonde hair and is wearing a strapless top. To the right of the woman, there is a glass of red wine with a wine glass and a wine bottle inside it. The wine glass is filled to the brim with wine. Above the glass, there is a purple pill with a pillbox and a pill label.

To the right of the woman, there is a pair of black high-heeled shoes with a peep-toe design. The background of the image is white, and there is a logo for "tinder" in the bottom right corner. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and exaggerated, with a focus on humor.]

Women are feral, men had to domesticate them. Without men they are simply animals.

Feral Women vs Domesticated Women are as different as a wild animal vs a domesticated animal.

Selective breeding works with humans just like it does with animals.
The point is that all women have the possibility of becoming feral again, The virus greatly increases that.

Keep them always having kids. They can't rebel if they are always having babies.
Women are designed to have as many kids as her body can have.

Abortion

Once you convinced a population that reproduction is wrong & have them commit Infanticide/Genocide/Suicide by killing there unborn young on the industrial scale, that population will destroy itself.

Abortion is a business/industry, which is why PP has quota's & why where all the remains go needs to be investigated into.

Abortion is designed to Dehumanize & Desensitize. What it does is convince people that they are nothing/don't matter from day 1 of conception, get them used to killing what they biologically create/can do & kill what they are as a species.

While Abortion is widely known for the Eugenics purpose of keeping populations down, it also has had a different Eugenics effect happen as a result of it. Baby's are developing advanced features sooner/at a quicker pace. It's not just advancements in medical tech/knowledge that are showing this. The threat of being killed for not being advanced enough is causing a change. Some Eugenacists are saying this is a "Necessary Evil", others are fascinated by this from a evolution standpoint, while a few disturbing ones are getting off on this.

Overpopulation is a myth. It really means Demographic replacement.

White nations promote overpopulation, then have low birth rates.

White nations promote climate change, then get de-industrialized.

Also, we have the tech to support lots of people. But its not wide spread or in some cases kept from the public.

Women's only value is the Womb. If they reject that gift of creation then they are useless, a malfunctioning tool/device.

Men are being pushed/coup out of western civilization/society by "empowered" women, specifically White and Jewish feminists leading the charge.

When men are pushed out of society, they create alternatives(Secret societies, Video games/VR, etc). But when women then destroy those and cause infighting over/in them, that is when it gets bad. Men then kill themselves, kill others, become women(crossdressing and transgender) and create artificial women(sexbots and artificial wombs).

The only chance the West has is if they wipe out feminists and remove the right to vote from women.

Women's right to vote, Take it, let them cry and then distract them with meaningless social bullshit and they will forget about it since they don't really care about voting in the first place.

Giving women the right to vote is a sign you want your country to collapse in a few decades.

Anonymous ID:hAP1gx5U Thu 06 Sep 2018 19:57:25 No.184790793 Report
[Female Human Evolution]

Women are designed to birth children and it's the only value they have besides being a wet hole. Genetic survival has favored women with wide hips so that large heads can be birthed safely. But because the female body stops the development of the child so it can birth it, human children are developmentally behind where they should/could be.

Birth Control has changed female evolution by making them nothing but wet holes and reducing uterus size and fertility.

Abortion Threat has changed female evolution because it has caused child in-womb development to speed up as a response to the propaganda/social engineering calling them a "clump of cells that isn't a person".

C-Sections have changed female evolution due to how it allows women with narrow hips to have children and it has shown that Women's value is just the Womb(They are called "Wom(b)-Men" for a reason).

[Artificial Wombs]

This technology will free Hu(Man)ity's from the limitations of the Female body. Artificial Wombs take the one value women have and remove the woman part. That part can be replaced with Sexbots with AI systems.

Humans would be able to develop and be genetically engineered far beyond what they are now. Cloning, Chimeras, Super Soldiers and Artificial Humans would all progress substantially more.

Sperm and Eggs can also be created so it all comes down to the DNA and the combination of it inside the Artificial Womb. So even the chance of the Femin Virus(feminism) spreading can possibly be reduced.

It's a well known fact that as abortion becomes more accessible that Fetus development accelerates to be more advanced earlier. It's creating hyper-evolution in real time, just as advanced technology is becoming part of existence.

If women cannot or do not want to do their purpose(having large numbers of children) they tend to destroy civilization.

It's like a machine that self destructs if a condition isn't met.

Artificial Wombs becoming public would be as great of a technological advance of society as smartphones have been.

Artificial Wombs would be something you could purchase like any appliance.

The only way you can "save" the west is wiping out all feminists. But since most Men and governments are retarded about the fact that it's a viral bioweapon with no cure, salvaging the West after it implodes is a more likely option.

Feminists are very "demonic" compared to how "angelic" normal women are in comparison to them.

[The image is a vibrant and detailed illustration that appears to be a part of a larger artwork, possibly a painting or a tapestry, given the intricate patterns and the style of the artwork. The central focus of the image is a group of people, possibly deities or mythological figures, gathered around a central figure who is seated on a throne-like structure. This central figure is holding a lotus flower, a symbol often associated with purity and divinity in various cultures. The central figure is surrounded by a group of mermaids, who are depicted in a variety of poses and colors, adding to the dynamic and lively atmosphere of the scene. The mermaids are holding objects that resemble musical instruments, suggesting a musical or ceremonial context. The background of the image features a landscape with a tree and a building, providing a sense of location and setting for the gathering. The colors used in the artwork are bright and varied, with a palette that includes reds, blues, yellows, and greens, contributing to the overall vibrancy and richness of the scene. The image is rich in detail and symbolism, and it is likely to be a part of a larger narrative or story, possibly from a religious or mythological tradition, given the presence of the central figure and the mermaids. The style of the artwork is reminiscent of traditional Indian art, with its use of vibrant colors and intricate patterns, which are characteristic of Indian art traditions.]

So looking into snake charming further, it's an ancient practice mainly practiced in India and Hindu people, but has its origins in Egypt. Also originally the practice was passed down within families through the generations and was actually practiced by the higher classes. I have some questions.

1. Was Ancient Egypt highly advanced? Did they actively combat the femin virus?
2. Is there an actual physical connection between the virus and the animal? Was the animal used in its creation?

3. Any interesting intel on the hindu religion?

From wikipedia:

>The pungi, also called the been and murli, is a wind instrument played by snake charmers on the Indian subcontinent. The instrument consists of a mouth-blown air reservoir made from a gourd, which channels air into two reedpipes. The pungi is played with no pauses, with the player employing circular breathing. The pungi originated in India and is still played by snake charmers in street performances.

Now here is some instruments that use "circular breathing":

The instrument consists of a mouth-blown air reservoir made from a gourd, which channels air into two reedpipes. The pungi is played with no pauses, with the player employing circular breathing. The pungi originated in India and is still played by snake charmers in street performances.

https://infogalactic.com/info/Reed_pipe

A reed pipe (also referred to as a lingual pipe) is an organ pipe that is sounded by a vibrating brass strip known as a reed. Air under pressure (referred to as wind) is directed towards the reed, which vibrates at a specific pitch. This is in contrast to flue pipes, which contain no moving parts and produce sound solely through the vibration of air molecules. Reed pipes are common components of pipe organs.

The dog appears to be sitting on a surface, possibly a couch, with its eyes closed and mouth slightly open, as if it's smiling or laughing. The dog's eyes are closed, and its mouth is slightly open, giving the impression of a joyful expression. The dog's eyes are not visible, and the focus is on the dog's facial features. The collar around the dog's neck has a pink and white pattern, and there is a heart-shaped tag attached to it. The background is out of focus, but it appears to be a wooden wall or paneling. > There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

>Trafficking

Trafficking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations.

There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities.

Bezmenov stated that he was also instructed not to waste time with idealistic leftists, as these would become disillusioned, bitter, and adversarial when they realized the true nature of Soviet Communism. To his surprise, he discovered that many such were listed for execution once the Soviets achieved control. Instead, Bezmenov was encouraged to recruit the persons in large circulation, established conservative media, rich filmmakers, intellectuals in academic circles, and cynical, ego-centric people who lacked moral principles.

During that period, increasingly seeing the Soviet system as insidious and ruthless, Bezmenov began careful planning to defect.

Hey Anon5,

Been following you since before the US election and participated in quite a few threads, along with some of the HTG ones from last summer mapping LA. I asked some math questions before in other threads and I understand if you don't have the time or if it's not your field, but do you have anything interesting about mainstream physics and math beyond any of the hints about behind-the-curtain tech? I started an engineering program last year and while I'm making my way through it, I wonder what is being left out of my education. There is a guy named Miles Mathis with a personal website that has many very interesting articles that he has written about math and science trying to correct what he says are errors in the current mainstream-accepted derivations and models. I don't really know enough yet to know if what he says is true or not but found his articles fascinating. Any thoughts?

I know the femin virus stuff is more important at the moment and I have been trying to spread the info as well. Was just wondering if you know of any errors or omissions in current science. How much is just heuristics?

Thinking out loud about what you said about buoyancy and space being like an ocean, what fluid/medium causes buoyancy in space if it is a vacuum? Floating on top of the earth's atmosphere only gets you so far, right?

Less dense than the medium - you float

More dense than the medium - you sink

Any vessel is more dense than a vacuum -- so how does it "float"?

Is it truly a vacuum? According to the mainstream physics, only electromagnetic waves can travel outside of a medium. Is this correct?

Oldfag here.

Yuri's job was to prepare a "grassroots" communist revolution in India.

In 1970s Soviet Union was trying to expand south and ultimately conquer both India and Middle East. Invasion of Afghanistan was a first step. If it succeeded, it would allow Soviets to either move West to cut off NATO's oil (Afghanistan->Iran->Iraq->Saudi Arabia) or East to conquer India (Afghanistan->Pakistan->India).

All countries were supposed to go by the same playbook as Afghanistan:

- > communist revolution starts

- > revolutionary forces seize government buildings and radio/TV stations

- > proclaim "people's government"

- > broadcast a message asking Soviet Union to help

- > civil war starts

- > Soviet forces invade and mop up.

Secondly, I think A5, when I asked about Loki, was trying to get me to realize he was always infected with the femin virus, actions like seducing a male horse and randomly killing a river otter seems to fall in line with what he's described the infected are like.

I can't find anything on griffins with a snake for a tale. The only creatures that have it are the Chimera and Cerberus.

Griffins' origins are said to come from the Scythians, who said these creatures were guarding their gold mines and treasures. It is believed the Scythians invented their shape after stumbling upon protoceratops fossils in the Gobi desert.

Sure and if it sparks the high IQ posters it's worth it.

The only solution to bringing back quality posters is to create quality topics.

Truly, 4chan and The_Donald needs to be banned. Trump needs to leave Twitter.

The final solution is a digital tea party and migrate to new platforms.

The leftists are a monolith. The rest are decentralized hive mind of sorts.

They will never let any ingroup safe space exist, they will always attack any couter-ideaology to the commie monolith. They will never leave us alone.

These are good, I was just thinking about another infographic to emphasize how our genes/progress are hurt from Feminism and Weak men convincing people not to seek (or that there is not) a mate with the most superior genes that they can get (for intelligence, physical fitness, fertility traits, immunity).

Just a note for idiots that "the most superior genes" to mate with does not mean any specific race (although it could for the individual). This is about telling people that everyone is equal and there's no pride in being born genetically smarter than average or beautiful (good genes) or otherwise talented, and to seek out landwhale feminists because muh equality.

Then, if possible juxtapose those (in)effected populations with femin infected populations to show how unnatural the behaviors are.

>ALL /A5G/ GENERALS

<https://pastebin.com/P7JPPRvW>

But, before we get neck-deep in info, we need to go over a few questions.

>Hey, who is this Anonymous5 fellow anyway?

Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing the Feminism bioweapon, combating human trafficking worldwide, et cetera.

>And why is this important?

His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere humanly possible. However, be wary of anti-A5 shill campaigns as you spread Knowledge Bomb intel. A massive shill operation is going on against Anonymous5 as we speak.

>Interesting. Where can I find more of this Knowledge Bomb information?

[Feminism Virus (Bioweapon Attack)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?

I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity: Women.

> There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

[/HATE/: HUNTING ALL TRAFFICKING ENTERPRISES: CITY INVESTIGATIONS]

These generals are for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking various trafficking networks and enterprises. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

Trafficking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations. We track all types.

One of the most interesting rabbit holes Anon5 takes us on is a combination of a few tidbits of info. First, the intel that HR Giger was murdered for what he showed. Second, the globalist trans humanist agenda. Third, the Momoch KB of how a God that is worshipped can be changed. Fourth, the intel on Globalist cults. He is acknowledging the existence of something pretty sinister but doesn't dwell on it. Fascinating stuff.

I'm being admittedly lazy but slowly trying to read through bioweapon stuff.

Latest thing I've found interesting is reading about the Rockefeller and Gates foundation and their work on vaccines/viruses

>In December 2010, the WHO, UNICEF, the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID) together with the Gates Foundation proclaimed the Decade of Vaccines Collaboration, designed to increase coordination across the international vaccine community and to create a Global Vaccine Action Plan.⁸ This makes the Gates Foundation the largest non-state funder of the WHO and, in 2014, the second largest donor overall (after the USA). The Gates Foundation's grants are earmarked contributions and as such influence, de facto, the priority setting of the WHO. Not directly referring to the Gates Foundation but to the general problem of earmarked funds, which are limited to specific programmes or programme areas, WHO Director-General Margaret Chan admitted as much when she said, "(m)y budget [is] highly earmarked, so it is driven by what I call donor interests."⁸⁷ An analysis of twenty-three global health partnerships by political economists Buse and Harmer in 2007 revealed that seven relied entirely on Gates Foundation funding and another nine listed the Gates Foundation as the single largest donor.⁹²

A5 / Anonymous5,

1) Did the military test the Virus on Africans/Ugandans first before deploying it in the US late 60s?

2) When was the actual creation time?

3) Steinem pushed it in late 60s you say.

But she worked for them in the late 50s, early 60s (and still) in the SRI/NSA shuttling test Subjects around in 62.

4) 1957/1962 isn't late 60s was the virus used during this time?

4a) on those ((subjects))?

4b) if not was it at least in testing around that time?

I know you are busy with things today but if you could answer these pointers it would really help decide the next avenue to look down so I don't waste time.

Again, Thank you.

agreed, to be fair I never realized just how bad it was until A5 pointed it out but I was pretty staunchly anti-abortion even before that revelation.

It just seemed like a net negative as a whole to begin with and figured even if that shill line was true it still wasn't worth the trade-off loss of the white births to begin with because theres better alternative population control methods.

The biggest redpill on abortion before the rigged stats one to cover up white women genociding their own children was learning how much a single abortion damaged the womb and impacted any subsequent births.

But it is a minority problem. Read the report yourself.

There were a total of ~650,000 abortions in 49 out of 52 reporting areas. (only 3 areas didn't report in 2014)

The race section only included 30 areas that included the most complete data which also separated out "other" and "hispanic" from the white group. roughly 400,000 total abortions are counted in this section. Of those 400,000, around 150,000 were white. Even if 100% of the remaining abortions were white (~250,000), white abortions would be at 400,000. That translates to approximately 203 per capita for whites at the extremely high end.

Blacks account for ~142,000 abortions in the data set. That number alone puts their rate at roughly 326 per capita.

Some of the states left off the list include very black areas like Chicago, New Orleans, Boston, and Mississippi. The likelihood of whites being 100% of the missing numbers is practically 0 - but even if they were - you'd still be wrong.

The baby boomers were a very, very white generation due to the fact that the majority of immigration up until 1965 came from Europe. They are dying off more rapidly than expected while middle aged working class whites are facing a mortality crisis from suicide, alcoholism, and opioids. Perfect storm.

Minority groups are only growing from immigration. More immigrants came to the US (mainly from the Third World) since 1965 than came to the US over the entire 19th century (42 million vs. 56 million). Many more are staying than was the case in the past too.

Blacks had a high birth rate once but now are at the point that they are growing almost totally from immigration and will probably shrink in the future.

The white birth-rate is actually higher now than it was in the 1980s (1.82) so the white population is recovering from a birth rate that was once negative combined with the die-off of older members (who were a larger generation hence the name "boomer")

In the short-run, things look bad, but they actually are not that bad as a whole.

Fucking bullshit, you retarded kike.

American niggers abort their babies at the highest rate per capita of any race on the planet Earth. In fact, abortion is THE NUMBER 1 CAUSE OF DEATH for niggers in America. If it wasn't for abortion the population of niggers would QUADRUPLE within a single generation. Anyone who is against abortion is, by default, in favor of having explosive growth in the nigger population in America.

Absolutely quality thread.

My two question to you and Anon5 is:

1) what can be done to begin unraveling the feminist ideals that have lodged themselves into so many women's minds. I'm talking about on an interpersonal level, so for people we know well assumed.

2) what (on both an individual and mass communication scale: answer for each please) can speed up the process of healing the Femin Virus.

I think the mass scale communication of unraveling will involve a return to young girls playing with girl toys that reinforce those gender roles for women.

Title: For NSA Affiliates: SL Inaugurates Discount Plan at 'U'

Excerpt: "A national discount system, which enables University students to receive discounts on a large variety of merchandise at selected stores throughout the country, has begun operations on campus.

The Student Discount Service (SDS), operated by the National Student Association was brought to the campus by the Student Legislature. It enrolls the University in a system in existence of dozens of colleges in all parts of the country which gives five to 50 per cent discounts to students through local and nation-wide merchants.

While no complete list of contracted merchants has yet been received by SL, 17,000 Purchase Cards were distributed by SL during registration.

No Local Merchants

It is not expected, according to SL's NSA Coordinator Jane Germany, '56, that Ann Arbor merchants will join the plan at present. However, approximately 50 Detroit merchants have already been contracted and an increase in that number is now expected.

Approval to join the SDS network was given by SL last semester. According to Larry Levine, '56, Public Relations Chairman, who suggested joining the system last spring, the retailer who joins the Purchase Card System finds that the increase in the volume of sales more than makes up for the lower prices.

"He has a direct appeal to the 30,000 students in this vicinity,

Levine said, "because he is able to count on more trade from students he can stock more goods for students."

Varied Items

Items available for discount are varied, from theater tickets to gasoline and automobile tires."

Title: "Conditional Recognition Granted PIC"

Author: Jean Spencer

Excerpt: "Student Government Council conditionally recognized the Political Issues Club and calendared a conference on "Problems of Discrimination in the North" planned by the PIC for Apr. 28 to May 1.

Affiliation of the PIC with the national Students for Democratic Society was approved.

The SDS is a student branch of the League for Industrial Democrats, and the recognition of the PIC stipulated that the PIC constitution state this connection.

It was also proposed that the PIC be directed to change its name to one "more commensurate with the real purpose" of the club, and that a copy of the LID constitution be distributed to every new member of the PIC. Rationale for these proposed conditions for recognition said that the national organizations are advocates of socialism.

Assertion False

This assertion was termed "blatantly false" by Al Haber, '60 who is a member both of SGC and the PIC, and these two proposed conditions were deleted from the motion.

The conference on discrimination in the north will be sponsored jointly by the PIC and the SDS.

Contd:

In other consideration of dis-crimination, the Council devoted one and a half hours to further discussion of proposed regulations in the area of restrictive member-ship practices.

The Council decided not to give further consideration to Phil Zook's motion to adopt regulations on restrictive practices and con-trol of membership selection.

In speaking for his motion, Phil Zook, '60, said that his regulation was intended to form a basis for detailed procedure in handling groups that do not meet SGC rec-ognition criteria.

A major objection to this mo-tion was its attempt to consider a proposal of a regulation without outlining a procedure for imple-menting it.

Objection

Objection was also raised re-garding the word "disciplinary," describing SGC action on evidence that an organization prohibited membership on discriminatory bases.

Members felt the word connoted a policy of penalizing offending groups rather than working for elimination of dis-crimination as a whole.

The Council continued discus-sion on the Haber-Miller motion, which includes procedure to consider evidence and present-recommendation for council ac-tion on cases involving discrim-ination.

The motion as revised speci-fies membership of three students, two faculty members and two ad-ministrators appointed by the Council from recommendations, having equal voting rights."

Title: "Haber Answers Political Club Criticism"

Author: Stuart Dow

Excerpt: ""We are a radical group in that we feel students should be inter-ested in what's going on in the world around them, and in that we will discuss Controversial is-sues." Al Haber, '60 said.

In this way Haber answers those people who accuse the Political Issues Club of being a group of radicals.

PIC was originally founded on this campus on December 19, 1956. It died last spring from lack of interest. Reorganized this fall by Haber, it now has 55 active mem-bers and a mailing list of over 250. This winter it became affiliated with the national Students for Democratic Society. Haber is the national vice-president of SDS.

"It is not necessary to belong to both groups," Haber Said. "One can be a member of PIC and not SDS."

Advocates Action

"The student years are not ones where one should wait for some-thing," Dewitt C. Baldwin, ad-viser to PIC, commented. "Stu-dents should get into things and take an active interest in current problems. The function of PIC is to encourage students to do just this."

To accomplish this the club each week presents one or two guest speakers on controversial issues. Each speech is followed by a dis-cussion period.

The programs this semester have been on a wide variety of subjects. Issues such as the Na-tional Defense Education Act, the Anti-Fascist Movement on the Continent, the H. Chandler Davis Case, and the proposed University tuition increase have all been dis-cussed. PIC even sponsored an open house for Student Govern-ment Council candidates during the recent campaign.

To Sponsor Discussion

"We will sponsor a discussion on any subject, which someone is in-terested in presenting," said Brere-ton Bissell, '61, chairman of PIC. "We are more than willing to work with any group or individual, who wishes to present a program which might be of interest to our mem-bership and the student body in general."

This spring the club is sponsor-ing a conference to discuss "Dis-crimination in the North," from April 28-May 1. Such people as James J. McCain of the Congress of Racial Equality and Jim Farm-er, program director of the National Association for the Advance-ment of Colored People, are among the speakers. Thurgood Marshall of the NAACP and Martin Luther King have also been invited, but have not as yet replied.

"In addition to the main speak-ers, there will be some thirty top resource people leading discussion groups," Haber said. "Along with the presenting of information on the subject of discrimination here in the North, we hope the confer-ence will act as a leadership train-ing program in ways and means of combatting it. Over three hundred students from all around the Mid-west are expected to attend."

Secretary Here

Charles Van Tassel, former Ex-ecutive Secratary of SDS and now the paid secretary of the confer-ence, is presently here on campus helping to arrange the conference.

Besides working here, he makes frequent trips around the Mid-west to arouse interest in the con-ference

In preparation for the confer-ence, recent PIC programs have revolved around the issue of discrimination. People such as Anna Holden, Grad., of CORE, and Wil-liam Goode of the Michigan Co-ordinating Council for Civil Rights have talked on discrimination problems here in the North.

"It is necessary to build up public opinion to meet and accept new laws and advances in law." Baldwin said. "One can accomplish much more through education than through rabble-rousing. One of the purposes of the conference is to educate people about what has been done in the past and what can be done in the future. Conviction should lead to action."

Discussion Group

Originally PIC was set up to be just an impartial discussion group. "This is no longer the case," Haber said. "We now try to put the outcome of our discussions into action. We are moving towards being an action club in addition to being an active club. From now on we will be discussing not just the problems involved but ways and means of solving them. Our present interest is in the field of civil rights."

"For instance we are planning to collect money to help pay the fines of the Negro students, who participated in the sit-down strikes in the South recently." Bissell said.

"Students should be excited and deeply concerned with the problems facing the world today, but they aren't," Haber said. "Until they are, there will always be a need for a group such as PIC."

Author:

Excerpt: "A special meeting to plan Michigan's participation in the Conference on Human Rights in the North will be held at 8 p.m. today in Rm. 3S of the Union, Al Haber, '60, conference coordinator, announced yesterday.

The Conference, sponsored by the national organization of Students for Democratic Society, will be held in Ann Arbor April 28-May 1. Approximately 400 students from more than 50 colleges will participate.

Several Well - known speakers will address the conference, which will also feature 10 students who participated in demonstrations in the South.

"We have great anticipation that a permanent organization will come out of the conference to coordinate student action programs throughout the country." Haber said, explaining the purpose of the conference.

All students and faculty members interested in human rights are encouraged to attend the planning meeting, he stressed.

The confr, having been in the works for months in advance, will be sponsored locally by the Political Issues Club as the official hosts of the SDS at the University."

Title: "Meeting Here: Prepare for Human Rights Conference"

Author:

Excerpt: "Final preparations are now be-ing made for the Conference for Human Rights in the North to be held on campus this weekend.

About 400 students from more than 40 colleges and universities are expected to attend the meet-ing, which begins Thursday and runs through Sunday. Most of the schools represented are in the east and midwest. Busses will bring groups from New York City and Athens, Ohio.

Al Haber, '60, conference coor-dinator held a meeting recently to explain the conference to in-terested University students, Ap-proximately 75 students attended and 60 to 70 are expected to at-tend the conference. Representa-tives from the Ann Arbor Human Relations Conference and the Hu-man Relations Board of Student Government Council will also at-tend.

The conference is sponsored by the Students for Democratic So-ciety, a group affiliated with the League for Industrial Democracy. The League is an educational, non-profit and non-partisan or-ganization founded in 1905. It is concerned with the social and economic problems of an indust-rial society.

Action-oriented

Habner explained that the con-ference, whose local sponsor is the Political Issues Club, is action-oriented. It hopes to show stu-dents the areas in which they can work effectively to end discrim-ination and the most effective methods to employ.

"We are now in the midst of a movement on the part of students for human rights, the scope of which we could not have imagined a few months ago. We want to make sure that the momentum of this movement will not die out.

"We want to channel it into continuing programs for social action on the basic Northern problems -- housing, employment, and the rest."

"This work is not dramatic," he explained, "but it must be done." The conference will out-line techniques for making pro-gress in the fight against discrim-ination in areas such as housing and employment. Haber hopes that a coordinated program, for handling many of these problems will emerge.

King May Attend

The Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., will attempt to come to Ann Arbor to deliver the keynote ad-dress. If he is detained by legal battles in Alabama and unable to attend the conference, he will send one of his associates.

Morris Milgram, building con-tractor involved in inter-racial housing development in Deerfield, Ill., will speak at the conference.

Milgram, the president of Modern Community Developers has been building interracial develop-ments for nearly ten years. His most notable projects have been in Princeton, N.J., and just out-side of Philadelphia.

Milgram works carefully with communities involved in an attempt to prepare the commun-ity for his development. The Deer-field situation is the first time that he has become involved in court action.

List Topics

Other speakers will be James Farmer, national program direct-or of the National Association for the Advancement of C o l o r e d People, and Lt. Gov. John Swain-son.

Among the specific topics to be discussed are: Increasing Negro employment opportunities, voter registration and political oppor-tunities, integrating housing, sym-pathetic action for the Southern movement, direct non-violent ac-tion, fraternities and sororities, integration in campus activities and social life, developing the ac-tion potential of the Negro com-munity, higher education, pro-grams for minority group youth, the mass movement and leader-ship training programs.

The work on the conference has been going on all fall. Recently, Charles Van Tassel, an employee of SDS, came to Ann Arbor to assist organizing the effort."

Presentation and vote on workgroup and delegation recommendations, and selection of an inter-college student committee to coordinate future activity.

STUDENTS ARE INVITED TO REGISTER FOR PART OR ALL OF THE CONFERENCE AT ROOM 3C OF THE MICHIGAN UNION. WITH THE EXCEPTION OF THE KEYNOTE ALL PROGRAMS WILL TAKE PLACE IN THE UNION-3rd FLOOR

THE WORKGROUPS

(Friday and Saturday, 2-4 P.M.)

The task of the workgroups will be to develop concrete programs of action. Each of the workgroups is concerned with some area of potential action on the part of students. The workgroups will suggest specific programs in these areas and should recommend steps to implement these programs in as much detail as possible.

These recommendations will be presented to the conference as a whole for approval at the Sunday session.

Specifically, the workgroups will be concerned with these questions:

- 1) What are the problems and what is their extent?
- 2) What are the forces which hinder solution of the problems?
- 3) What are the concrete possibilities of student action?

The last question will be considered in terms of specific programs:

the form of the action; the manner in which the action is to be organized; the resources on which the action program will draw.

After the topic heading of each workgroup are listed problems possibly suited to student action. These items do not constitute an agenda; they are suggestions, listed in order to delimit the ground each workgroup will cover (either in whole or in part), and to exemplify the level of specificity on which each group will operate.

WORKGROUP I: INCREASING NEGRO EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Suggested Focus: Canvassing employers willing to hire Negroes to apply for jobs that are open; educational programs on FEPC and complaint-filing procedure; increasing opportunities for acquiring additional skills; problems of university hiring policies; etc.

Suggested Focus: Kinds of programs for dealing with segregated residence halls; listing of non-discriminatory facilities; negotiating for a strong policy stand by the university; restricting student approved housing to signers of open-occupancy covenants; canvassing of landlords; etc.

WORKGROUP IV: SYMPATHETIC ACTION FOR THE SOUTHERN MOVEMENT

Suggested Focus: Picketing; fund-raising; letter writing; public relations with the community and campus; communication with Southern student leaders; etc.

WORKGROUP V: DIRECT NON-VIOLENT ACTION

Suggested Focus: Techniques of sit-in; picketing; running of test-cases; decorum & procedure; public relations; desirable degree of organizational structure; etc.

WORKGROUP VI: FRATERNITIES AND SORORITIES

Suggested Focus: Coordinated activity over a number of campuses against national organization to change its policy; encouraging Negroes and other minorities to seek membership; cooperation between different fraternities; university action against chapters which discriminate; etc.

WORKGROUP VII: INTEGRATION IN CAMPUS ACTIVITIES AND SOCIAL LIFE

Suggested Focus: Encouraging Negroes to seek positions of leadership in student activities; establishing interracial clubs and social groups; kinds of activity useful for promoting contact between White and Negro students; etc.

Important to note that they began studying the relationship between certain insects (arthropods) and their viruses in 1952:

SDS was financed by Soros (he is still a funnel for it).

The BioWeapon they created causes brain damage, physical Mutations, and a hive mentality modeled after Insects.

Peace != Inaction

Independent Research Services Inc's (IRSI) trips to the Festivals were not only about infecting the festival goers but tracking what happened to the people picked to visit the Festival\Be Infected.

IRSI Founders:

Dr. Paul E. Sigmund Jr (3rd)

Gloria Steinem

(Directors:

Gloria Steinem

Dennis Shaul

Eugene Theroux (Brother of Paul Theroux, Son of Phyllis Theroux)

Money flowed from the CIA -> IRSI & CIA -> National Students Association (NSA)

After the deeds were done, everyone left and Eugene was the only left over.

All of these are connected to the National Student Association which allowed Ann Arbor College to be over run and become a breeding ground for these as well.

And these were created/listed in order:

>Intercollegiate Socialist Society

>League For Industrial Democracy (46-59)

>(SLID) Student League For Industrial Democracy

Which birthed
>(SDS) Students for a Democratic Society
Which birthed
>Weather Underground/Weathermen

All of this brings up Elizabeth Bentley, Abraham Brothman, Alger Hiss, CFR, Harold Glasser, Morton Sobell, William Remington, Madalyn Murray Ohair etc

[Feminism Virus (Bioweapon Attack)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?

I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity: Women.

> There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

Map of Trafficking Networks in the USA

[/HATE/: HUNTING ALL TRAFFICKING ENTERPRISES: CITY INVESTIGATIONS]

These generals are for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking various trafficking networks and enterprises. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

Trafficking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations. We track all types.

Ancient symbols for the Virus in the DNA

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace IMG_9239.jpg, 60KiB, 500x278

[The image is a composite of two separate photographs, both of which are of the same building, which appears to be a modern skyscraper. The building has a glass facade and is situated in a cityscape with a clear blue sky above. The photograph on the left shows the building in its original state, with a large, weathered stone structure that appears to be a pyramid or temple. The photograph on the right shows the building in a different state, with the same glass facade but with a different color scheme, suggesting a modern or contemporary design. Overlaying the two photographs is a text that reads "CHILD SACRIFICE" in large, bold, white letters. Below the text, in smaller white font, is the year "1515" and "2015." The text and the year are positioned in such a way that they appear to be superimposed over the two photographs, creating a visual juxtaposition between the past and the present. The text and the year are the only elements in the image that are not part of the photographs. The overall style of the image is a satirical or humorous commentary on the concept of sacrifice, with the juxtaposition of the ancient structure and the modern building symbolizing the passage of time and the transformation of architecture.]

This here is where you post any and all KB's [Knowledge Bomb] and any related red pills. Well, what are you waiting for? Get posting!

>ALL /A5G/ GENERALS

<https://pastebin.com/P7JPPRvW>

But, before we get neck-deep in info, we need to go over a few questions.

>Hey, who is this Anonymous5 fellow anyway?

Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing the Feminism bioweapon, combating human trafficking worldwide, et cetera.

>And why is this important?

His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere humanly possible. However, be wary of anti-A5 shill campaigns as you spread Knowledge Bomb intel. A massive shill operation is going on against Anonymous5 as we speak.

>Interesting. Where can I find more of this Knowledge Bomb information?

I think what it comes down to is that the "virus" really distorts the perception or lens through which people view the world.

For instance, it changes whether people put their efforts into coming up with pragmatic solutions versus idealistic solutions. And the idealistic outcomes they strive for will never be achieved with a slight change, those goals will only be achieved through a complete restructuring of every variable. That is why liberalism, and of course feminism as it is now and the last two waves, are bad. Because it is just a stop along the journey for realizing the completed satanic system which is Marxist communism.

This is creating a moral vacuum which is not being properly filled. Thus the youth are left to listen to their instinct rather than strive for something above their carnal desires. That's my assessment of what is happening to the youth as of now under the current stages of liberalism. But the moral vacuum is easy to fill. There just needs to be an alternative of sources that people can cling to. I'm working on that now, as a project. With the same vigor Terry had.

The moral vacuum which is facing children is perhaps a more important issue to focus on understanding, because it creates the cycle of furthering the poison of society while reinforcing social proof the direction of the world. Just look what (((they've))) done to wholesome children's shows. Compare reboots to the originals just fifteen years ago even.

Everyone needs to focus on coming up with a solution to the moral vacuum that satanist jews are trying to fill. They ban the productive morals, by labeling them as perpetuating repressive stereotypes, and while blocking those good ideals for children to strive for, they inject their own indoctrination upon them. And it's a monopoly, so to speak, on what media the children are consuming.

In closing, let's work on giving children and their parents, more options to select from. Without negative subversive programming.

I believe it is akin to a chemical feed back loop that people have been programmed (through accepting certain messages and manufactured virtues) to accept. And thus they wish to spread these same messages to others because they believe they are looking out for their friend's or family's best interest by doing so and passing the same mechanisms for brain chemical triggers (the feed-back loop) to them. So we are essentially on the same page.

Whether it's a virus in the biological sense or not, that is not important if you believe there is no cure. As you already said in reply to my first post.

What we need to focus on now is to see if we can get people infected to change their behavior overtime.

And from evidence of /pol/, it appears some people are able to change their behavior and believes in a way that is favorable to coming up with pragmatic solutions rather than aligning with idealistic ones that stem from the mind virus.

I will read the posts you linked. But I wanted to clarify that I see as a biological effect on these people as well as you do, based on brain chemistry and internalized values that reinforce poisonous behavior.

Excerpt from:

<https://archive.4plebs.org/pol/thread/183855976/#q183866879>

"Social engineering doesn't create these monsters. It merely amplifies or stimulates conditions. The harsh reality is that you are going to have to wipe them all out if they are that far gone from the social engineering."

"1) It's just not possible to create a cure. It's been tried and doesn't work and can't work.

2) The infected want to kill the immune/resistant more than anyone."

"The US military was experimenting with the virus. A few of the infected reached mutation stage(somehow) broke out and killed dozens of personal and multiple armored vehicles. Allowing the rest of the infected to escape.

The infected were found after weeks of searching in different locations across the country. They went in every direction(N,S,E,W,NE,NW,SW,SE) from the escape location, some were found on the other side(they naturally traveled to the furthest points away from infection, just like how western women love "traveling") of the country/continent.

The only reason why they were found was because of all the dead wildlife and any poor souls that tried to help them(thinking they were regular women) and massacred small towns in the middle of nowhere.

CIA was just who they decided should spread a "refined" version of the strain. Since R&D was hell on earth("Demonic") essentially."

So the virus works through attaching itself with the DNA of the host through intasomes. This explains how the virus would enter into the brain and effect the production of OXT through DNA manipulation. And it is well established that viruses can do this.

I wasn't too far off with it being brain chemical manipulation. But I had the wrong answer. My answer was for the cause being social values internalized into people to enact feedback loops of chemical dysphoria if someone fell outside of the social constraints put in place.

In a way, this is simpler because it is far less abstract. The big obstacle would be getting people to actually understand the information.

It appears that we need to either find a way to identify biologically the signs of the virus being expressed through DNA or proteins in molecules. Or research if there's anyway to naturally increase the efficiency of oxytocin receptors (OXTR) that already exist. I'm sure there's a variance of effects for certain people. In people who are more hindered in the production of OXT and less with their receptors, maybe it would ease the expressed effects of the virus.

I'm going to look into the paraventricular nucleus. Also see if there are natural ways to either a) increase oxytocin production in the brain or b) increase the efficiency/health of the receptors.

How the virus acts: it is a retrovirus that inserts its genome into the human genome. The inserted genome disrupts the DNA sequence and expression of a gene involved in regulation of oxytocin hormone signaling.

This causes disparities in oxytocin, which is involved in maternity, pair-bonding, ingroup preference, and dopamine/serotonin regulation, all things that feminists tend to lack.

The retrovirus affects many parts of the body, including the limbic and reproductive system.

OP, you're going to love this. You might've even posted this already. Not too sure.

But I found an article that discusses the effects of variations within the oxycocin receptors and giving utilitarian judgement.

In the introduction:

>They found that L-allele carriers gave more utilitarian responses to dilemmas in which the harm is merely foreseen rather than intended. They found no effect of genotype on responses to dilemmas in which the utilitarian action requires an intentional harm. This pattern is surprising because it is dilemmas involving ('personal') intentional harm that are the most affectively salient

In the results section:

>The present results provide evidence for a link between variation in OXTR and moral judgment, employing a sample of more than 500 individuals responding to set of widely studied moral dilemmas. In Study 1 (N = 228), we observed a correlation between variation in SNP rs237889 and the frequency of utilitarian judgment (P = 0.019, uncorrected), with a linear trend observed across T/T, C/T and C/C genotypes (Figure 1, left). Study 2 replicated this finding using a larger sample (N = 322), revealing significant effects using the same testing materials (P = 0.013) and a new set of medical dilemmas (P = 0.015) (Figure 1, right). Once again, the effect observed in Study 2's replication sample was nearly identical to that observed in Study 1. Thus, these data provide the strongest evidence to date linking variation in a specific gene to variation in moral judgment.

Some questions others have asked/Answered

-----/-----/-----

Q1. Is sustained contact generally necessary for it to spread to males? It seems to be the case since men can often intermingle with leftist crowds for a short period of time and not be infected.

>A1) Sometimes.

Q2. Does the Femin Virus have different effects depending on the DNA of the infected?
Q3. Does the Femin Virus cause certain genes to express themselves in an opposite fashion? Not sure if that's the best way to explain it. I'm mainly asking if the virus causes certain traits to become the opposite of what they once were.

>A2) & A3) This depends on the host, but you'll notice that all feminists look and act a certain way.

Q4. Does the Femin Virus actively permanently change one's DNA?

>A4) It's in the DNA.

Q5. Are the right societal conditions for the Femin Virus related to peoples' estrogen levels or some other kind of hormone?

>A5) Sometimes.

Q6. Is a woman having a sense of modesty a good indicator of not having the virus? It seems that by wiping the desire for women to have children that they lose the biological need to display a sense of modesty as they no longer have to worry about being selective about a mate.

>A6) Yes.

Q7. Does having large groups of women live in close proximity with the general absence of males cause the virus to activate sometimes? I remember that you said if you have enough women living together that it causes their ovulation cycles to synch. That could relate to what you've said about pheromones I was thinking.

>A7) Yes.

From what I'm reading. People who contain C allele, L allele give the most utilitarian response. Those who were homozygous for the T allele gave the least utilitarian responses. What's hard for me to interpret is whether utilitarian judgement would express itself as feminism in women. Because it does sound like a more masculine trait. These are all DNA based. So a virus could be targeting the C allele and L allele within DNA for women and causing them to become more prominent thus their behavior more confrontational.

This study sums it up perfectly in their abstract:

>Together, these findings suggest that moral judgment is influenced by variation in the oxytocin receptor gene and, more generally, that single genetic polymorphisms can have a detectable effect on complex decision processes.

<https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pubmed/27497314?dopt=Abstract>

Regardless of how whether it is the T allele or the C allele/L allele in oxytocin receptors that are targeted, these studies should act as evidence that an actual virus is a possibility to other anon. Since a virus could target specific allele DNA within its victim.

Excellent explanation. I'm going to save this thread for later research into it. I'll continue to look through your other responses.

I'm going to see if I can interpret which allele the virus would target to create feminists and also make men more passive. It really depended whether utilitarian judgement is seen as a feminist trait in females.

Maybe women should have more T-allele and far less variation of C-allele and L-allele (since those last two are significantly correlated with utilitarian judgement, which I believe is good only if expressed in men).

I'm going to look at the difference in T-allele in females versus males (hopefully studies from mid 1990s or earlier).

The charts and graphs are arranged in a grid format, with each chart and graph occupying its own row and column. The colors of the bars and lines in the charts and graphs vary, with some bars and lines being blue, red, green, and yellow, while others are black, white, and gray. The data points are represented by numerical values, with some bars and lines having a solid color, while others have a dashed line. The charts and graphs are divided into two main sections. The first section, labeled "Females Sexually Immoral," shows a bar chart with the title "Female Sexually Immoral," and a line graph with the title "Female Promiscuity Over Time." The second section, labeled "Female Promiscuity Over Time," shows a bar chart with the title "Female Promiscuity Over Time," and a line graph with the title "Female Promiscuity Over Time." The text in the image is in English and provides information about the sexual immorality of females in different countries. The charts and graphs are accompanied by a legend that explains the colors and symbols used in the charts and graphs. The image is sourced from the website "www.theguardian.com" and is dated "2018-03-20." The image is a screenshot of a larger document, and the resolution is high, making the details of the charts and graphs clear and legible.]

This, there is a hint of the virus in their drinks.

Similar to how everyone that yells about trump has a lot of skeletons in their closet to hide.

>The same with ClstArbucks.

There's a reason feminists are obsessed with it.

There's a reason they virtue signal as much as possible and said they would bring in migrants for work.

Excerpts:

>>174545947

Q) "A5 Whats the go with all these leftists attacks on Starbucks is this because of the Femin Virus threads? have a group decided to use the useful idiots to take that corporation out?"

>A) "The virus cannot be controlled, so Starbucks has created it's own downfall."

Q) "Were the three original founders of Starbucks apart of some secret club in the University of San Francisco? Looking into their backgrounds didn't reveal any other kind of interesting connections they could have had otherwise."

>A) "Starbucks got co-oped like Facebook did."

Q) "I'm guessing that it's a weak strain that only certain women who are especially weak to the virus are affected by though? It certainly can't be too strong, otherwise pretty much everyone in the West would have it.... like a primer"

>A) "Yes, and to answer the potency question, it's designed to be a very small amount but will gather up over time.

> Which is why if you notice how the more western women drink Starbucks, the more they become leftists/feminists."

Q) "Is anyone who's ever drunken Starbucks at risk, or just those that are drinking practically 24/7. Are you talking about the chemicals causing birth defects and such? Does this apply to men as much as women?"

....." THE FUCKING VIRUS?"

>A) "Look at the Starbucks logo again, she's giving birth to a monster.

>That's why she is in that position.

>And people are drinking the monster that she is birthing.

>They don't have to hide things when the public is really stupid."

[The image is a vintage-style comic strip with a cartoonish illustration style. It features three characters in a grassy outdoor setting. The central figure is a young boy with short hair, wearing a blue t-shirt with a European Union flag design on it. He is pointing towards a bicycle with a spoke visible on the front wheel. The boy is sitting on the grass, and the other two characters are seated beside him. The first character, a girl with curly hair, is wearing a light blue dress and is looking at the boy with a surprised expression. The second character, a boy with short hair, is wearing a red shirt and is also looking at the boy with a similar surprised expression. The third character, a boy with short hair, is wearing a green shirt and is pointing at the boy with the bicycle. The speech bubble above the boy's head contains the text "KICK ASS!!" in a bold, capitalized font. Below the speech bubble, there is a smaller text that reads "I don't know why. I think the devil does it." The speech bubble is in a lighter color, contrasting with the darker background of the comic strip. The overall tone of the image is humorous and satirical, with a touch of irony.]

[The image is a close-up photograph of a stained glass window. The window features a symmetrical design with a pentagram at the center, surrounded by a star pattern. The pentagram is composed of five triangles, each with a different color: red, blue, green, yellow, and white. The star pattern is composed of smaller triangles and lines, creating a radial pattern that radiates outward from the pentagram. In the center of the pentagram, there is a large eye with a yellow iris and a black pupil, surrounded by a triangle with a red border. Above the eye, there is a smaller triangle with a white border. The colors of the triangle and the border are different from the rest of the design, drawing attention to the eye. The background of the window is a gradient of colors, transitioning from a dark red at the bottom to a lighter pink at the top. The window has a textured appearance, with a grid-like pattern that adds depth and complexity to the design. There is text on the window, but it is not legible due to the resolution and angle of the photograph. The text appears to be in a language that is not English, and it is not clear enough to read. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the intricate details of the stained glass design. The photograph is taken from a perspective that allows the viewer to appreciate the symmetry and complexity of the design.]

[The image displays a stained glass window with a vibrant and intricate design. The window is divided into two symmetrical panels, each featuring a central figure surrounded by a halo of light. The central figure appears to be a figure of a saint or a religious figure, surrounded by a halo of light, which suggests a divine or holy presence. The colors used in the design are predominantly blue, red, and yellow, with accents of green and purple adding depth and contrast. The window is framed by a dark border, which is composed of a series of geometric patterns and shapes, including diamonds, squares, and rectangles. The style of the image is that of a photograph, with a focus on the stained glass window, capturing its detailed craftsmanship and the play of light and color within the design. In the lower part of the window, there is text that reads "1941-1945," indicating a possible historical or commemorative significance. The text is in a serif font, which is commonly used for formal or historical documents. The overall composition of the image suggests that it is a photograph intended to showcase the stained glass window, highlighting its artistic and religious significance.]

I wasn't going to name 8, but that's one of the ones I was think. I thought that even saying it could get you b&. Glad to see this is still up and running.

From what I'm gathering from the different allele of the OXTR, is that it is really tied to behavior, decision making, and influence autism. Small changes to this OXTR DNA would have large differences on decision making capabilities. And from what I remember reading in one of your pictures, it's possible for this change in DNA through the process of intasome.

The T-allele (SNP rs2268493 if you want to look it up) is associated with with autism spectrum disorders. The research I read said that "the mechanisms by which rs2268493 variants could affect social cognitive processes is unknown, but it is possible that these variants alter OXTR expression,"

This is the same allele that is found in other studies to be associated with NOT giving utilitarian judgment. Which I find interesting because I was under the impression autism increased utilitarian judgement.

BUT there is something to look out for. Because there is a massive difference when they say the T allele (intron-3 of the rs2268493 marker) versus the T allele of the promoter (SNP rs2268498). In the research, it's not always apparent which one they're talking about. You have to compare the SNP rs numbers. I'll explain the difference in my next post though. I suspect the T allele of the promoter would be expressed in females without the mind virus. Which means this might be what's attacked.

I'm still trying to see if I can find research into OXTR genetic differences between men and women and see if there's a difference. I've found one paper, but I'm going to need to look more into it. I'm also going to look to see specifically if there is a difference in women in regard to C-allele (rs237889) and T allele of the promoter (SNP rs2268498).

Here is a golden resource. Archive it, because if there is a conspiracy to cover up the Femin Virus like some of these links elude to, this resource may be deleted or hidden.

>>185272480

>>185299608

This resource lists SIMPLY the different allele genes of the OXTR (oxytocin receptor) along with their SNP rs numbers. Also clarifies which ones are promoters or intron-3.

> intron-3 T allele = higher risk of autism. Social impairment

At the intron-3 of the rs2268493 marker, the T allele has been associated with social impairment, autism spectrum disorders, and attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder.^{39, 40, 41} There is other evidence that this SNP may impact brain-reward circuitry. For instance, the TT genotype group displayed decreased activation in mesolimbic regions (including the nucleus accumbens and amygdala) in response to a monetary-rewards task.³ The T allele was also associated with poorer performance on a composite social cognition index.⁴²

>T allele of the promoter = more empathy, pair bonding, paternal instincts, good for women and men. Suspected possible target of the Femin Virus.

The T allele of the promoter rs2268498 marker has been associated with higher scores on a measure of empathy,⁵¹ and on a measure of social-perception abilities including the strength of social bonding, such as kinship and intimacy.⁵² The TT genotype was also associated with the lowest scores on measures of fear and sadness, as well as on negative emotionality.⁵³

>The C allele at the intron-3(? , doesn't clarify, but I assume) = the Chad allele, increased charisma and extroversion, just being themselves. Possibly targeted in men with the Femin Virus and women as well?

Finally, the C allele at the 3 rs237878 marker has been associated with higher levels of extraversion—a personality construct with strong positive links to reward sensitivity (RS) and sensation seeking—compared with the T allele.⁵⁴

Hmmm, it could be that the activator is a concoction of chemicals in the starbucks drinks.

Perhaps the Femin Virus, for some, needs to be re-stimulated with a fresh dose of the chemical activators otherwise without this chemical activator ingredients, it becomes dormant again.

Like this explanation image suggests, I'm hoping that the Femin Virus actually just degrades the OXT that is naturally produced by the body or at the very worst makes the T allele of the promoter (motherly traits) dormant while the virus is active.

I have hope that this can be fixed.

Important factor in pair-bonding mechanism then

So T alleles increase strength of social bonding but decrease activation in mesolimbic regions and worse social cognition?

Seems kind of contradictory, less response to the reward mechanism and social cognition, but higher bonding and empathy?

C allele definitely seems sensitive to the pushes to sleep around and seek behaviors

This is what I said, I doubt the virus could be in there unless it's only in the cold drinks otherwise it'd get denatured by the hot coffee.

And with the assortment of GMO products they use, the activators would be very difficult to locate especially if they combine once ingested

Perhaps but I think the chemical activators are hormonal, or at least some of them.

Otherwise how did the virus emerge so much in the previous cultures? Unless it's a simple/widely found chemical, but I'd think we'd have even greater levels of infection if that were the case.

Something has to happen to cause a hormonal expression change, then the increased amount of that hormone is an enhancer/transcription factor for the virus in some way. Or the decrease of inhibiting hormones. Maybe increased estrogen starts it's expression?

>I have hope that this can be fixed.

Apparently they've tried everything. I think the virus immediately makes copies of itself and buries the proviruses at multiple places in the genome. Then when it has several copies in the lysogenic phase, it needs to be activated (which may happen right away depending on the cellular environment). But the cures tried so far haven't found all the copies of the virus and one always gets triggered so it fails. That's my working theory

Does WHO or CDC ever refer to a virus that effects oxytocin in people?

That Texas story is actually very chilling. Notice how that wasn't in the MSM news cycle at all. Very strange and I doubt there's a coincidence. Especially after reading his credentials posted on his social media.

This Texas story seems to imply that there is some sort of infighting going on over research of viruses. One in which causes the level of paranoia in a professional to set a live feed in their hotel room and carry many fire arms. Who knows what it could be over exactly though.

The CDC leadership change was interesting too. Sadly, I know for a fact that there are some virologists that are homicidal, psychopathic (lacking the T allele of the promoter?), and satanists.

Oh, there's two T allele. One is T allele of the promoter (that promotes the bonding).

Then T allele of the intron-3 (this is the social impairment). Very subtle difference, you have to look very carefully at the SPN rs numbers to know which they're talking about in research papers.

Good point with the temperature of starbucks drinks by the way. I was wondering if heavy metals being built up in the brain could have an effect too. But that's less of a focus I suppose.

Alex Joons reported on it, but I can't find anything on any news platform about it or his identity.

Maybe GMO cows have a certain hormone in their milk that humans produce but extra amount in cuckbucks lattes is accelerating it("Vitamin D" is actually a hormone and we still get it/can use it from cow milk so it's not that far fetched). the coffee beans could be similar, as they might have a vitamin/mineral combo that does something similar.

I really wished we knew more about the virus and how it works, could make a counter virus that could just cause death in people that start having hormonal/chemical symptoms of the virus(not enough OXT causes a internal bleeding or something like that).

This was something I considered also. If it came and caused the Naga in Cambodia, it must be related to something else. I wonder about the hormonal changes from pride/entitlement and if there are such a thing, because the cultures that started to revere women had all these problems and viral outbreaks.

>And where can I read about their efforts?

Yeah they agencies that know about it. A5 says they tried everything, we've asked him stuff about CRISPR and breeding programs and things but when he says nothing has worked I think he means you can be genetically immune (like CCR5-/- people can't get HIV) but we don't know the factors that make people immune to replicate them.

The virus has too many modes of slipping by (hiding in the genome, replicating in carriers, spreading by fluids or whatever else) that they can't eradicate it once it's in your cells and it could only be eradicated by breeding immune people for whatever special genes they have and culling the infected.

I'm just thinking here. And Anon5, you could pitch in too.

But in genetics, all of these allele's within the OXTR can be present, yet not all of them would be expressed. They are just indicators of genetic predispositions towards certain behaviors.

My point being, what if like this anon said (>>185316187), that there is a hormonal trigger coming from a stimuli of the environment, and that hormonal trigger from the outside stimuli causes a repression of the T allele of the promoter (expresses itself with motherly like traits for a women). I have read in college where certain hormonal activation, once past a certain "threshold" in an individual, can activate schizophrenia or other mental illnesses in people with those genetic traits that predisposition them for those illnesses.

So what if there is a variable (could be another allele of the OXTR, or a gene in the producer of oxytocin in the human body) which is there, but when it activates after a certain threshold of sustained hormonal stimuli it suppresses the T allele of the promoter, instead of a virus?

I know that the way women process information and emotion is much different than men, so perhaps pride or control release sustained hormones that trigger another gene which then causes T allele to not express itself. I would really need to see the genetic mapping of females who are suspected to have the Femin Virus in them to know for sure.

I'm not discounting the Femin Virus nor saying it's wrong, but purposing an alternative explanation for the fucked up oxytocin systems in such a large number of women. This other explanation is completely dependent on one thing, to my understand. Which can quickly rule it out. That is whether or not there sustained hormones or a gene in the oxytocin production system or another related area, like the CpG islands (I'll need to look more into that), can be triggered to repress the expression of the T allele of the promoter (SPN rs2268498).

[The image is a digital illustration of a character that resembles a frog with a smiling expression. The frog has a large, round head with two large, round eyes that are wide open, giving the impression of a friendly or happy demeanor. Its mouth is closed, and its eyes are looking directly at the viewer. The frog's skin is a vibrant green, and its body is depicted in a simple, cartoon-like style. The background is a solid, light blue color, which contrasts with the green of the frog. There are no texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the illustration is reminiscent of a meme or a cartoon, with a focus on the character's facial expression and the color palette.]

>>185316458 A5.

Becuase Frank Olson has a daughter

Lisa Olson

& Wife Alice Olson.

She was born May 19, 1946

Which would make her way too young.

Sidney Gottlieb had a daughter

She was born 1945 which would make her way too young...

I'm going to go through the list of these..

But then it hit me.

Just because I wouldn't Screw a kid.

...Doesn't mean that GlowInTheDarks destroying the Human Race and working on MKultra projects wouldn't screw a kid.

Was looking for clarification if possible.

>If not that's okay too :)

But I don't think I'm wrong with the daughter theory considering You're the one that brought it up you 120year old sly shitposting Owner of a star destroyer & PMCs.

I was considering different haplotype blocks to be a potential variable, but that doesn't rule out the possibility of the Femin Virus and doesn't show a direct link between a hormone or gene effecting the OXTR T allele of the promote. Haplotype blocks are just indicators for predispositions of behaviors. So I'll keep looking. I'm trying to look more into the exons/CpG islands, like I mentioned previously. I think there might be an effect there. More importantly though, I think I need to look into the regulator region of the OXTR gene. I suspect the Femin Virus would somehow be able to effect this, either directly or indirectly.

Interesting read:

>Here, we investigated whether sensitivity to oxytocin administration is influenced by genetic variation of OXTR. We identified a six-marker haplotype block spanning the promoter region and intron 3 that was significantly associated with our measure of oxytocin sensitivity, emotion recognition performance under oxytocin versus placebo. Specifically, we identified two haplotypes that were differentially associated with oxytocin sensitivity: the TTCGGG haplotype comprising SNPs rs237917–rs2268498–rs4564970–rs237897–rs2268495–rs53576 is associated with increased emotion recognition performance under oxytocin versus placebo, and the CCGAGA haplotype with the opposite pattern. It is of note that the A allele of rs53576, previously associated with phenotypes including reduced empathy, lower trust, reduced sensitivity to social support in the context of stress and less sensitive parenting, falls almost exclusively on the CCGAGA haplotype. In the present study, this haplotype was associated with decreased emotion recognition speed under oxytocin compared with placebo.

>After describing the OT-signaling pathway, we review research on the three genes most extensively studied in humans: the OT receptor (OXTR), the structural gene for OT (OXT/neurophysin-I), and CD38.

><https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pubmed/26392129>

>OXT = the genetic code of oxytocin (OT)

>OXTR = oxytocin receptor gene

>CD38 = oxytocin pathway gene

The Femin Virus must be effecting these. I haven't found anything that falsifies or rules out the possibility of a virus. But I haven't found anything that doesn't say these three important parts of the oxytocin system within the human body can't be healed (even if the virus remains). So I'm going to stay optimistic and see if I can find a combination of things that could naturally increase the efficiency/healing/natural maintenance of these three genes.

I'm going to see how heavy metals stored in the brain plays a part in the production of oxytocin (OT), how ketones passing the blood-brain barrier effect them versus glucose, endocrine system effects the production of OT, and some more. I'm curious about the case of Dr. Aajonus Vonderplanitz and how it might shed some insight into this situation. because he was severely autistic until around 22, then he had raw milk paired with carrot juice. After about fourteen days of consuming this pairing, he lost many symptoms of his sever autism. I believe his testimony to be true. And if so, then somehow his endocrine system and system control his oxytocin was manipulated in a way that caused him to be much more functional.

His son experienced similar disabilities, but with the same method, his son was healed from an extreme sickness.

Here's the link to his story:

I'll report my findings in a couple days. This is good and interesting anons.

> There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

>Trafficking

Trafficking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities.

[The image is a digital graphic with a cartoonish style, featuring a character with blonde hair and a surprised expression. The character has a large, open mouth with a tongue sticking out, and a pair of eyes that appear to be wide open. The character's hair is styled in two ponytails, one on each side of its head. The character is wearing a blue ribbon around its neck with the text "CUM SULT" written on it. In the bottom right corner of the image, there is a small collection of pills and a pill bottle, suggesting a medical or health-related theme. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the colorful elements in the foreground. At the top of the image, there is a text that reads "MMM Birth Control," which is likely a reference to the birth control method. The text is in a bold, sans-serif font. The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on the use of birth control as a form of self-pleasure.]

It is a part of a larger document that appears to be a contract for a specific project or service. The document is divided into two main sections. The top section is titled "Contract Line Item" and lists various items, including "Description" and "QTY". The "Description" section lists "Normal Human Fresh Frozen" and "Synovial Tissue (Russia)". The "QTY" section lists "0001" for "Normal Human Fresh Frozen" and "12" for "Synovial Tissue (Russia)". The bottom section of the document is titled "Technical Specifications" and lists "The proposed items must meet the following characteristics to be deemed technically acceptable (See FAR 32.1212 (a) (Adendum for details):" followed by a list of items. The items listed are "All Normal Human Fresh Frozen (F.F. Synovial Tissue and and Russia)", "All Normal Human Fresh Frozen (RNA) samples must be Caucasian (order)", and "All F.F. Synovial tissue and RNA samples must come from Russia (order)". The document also includes a note at the bottom that reads "Q2: Would you consider samples from Ukraine?" and "A2: No, all samples (Synovial tissue and RNA samples) shall be collected from Russia and must be Caucasian. The Government will not consider tissue samples from Ukraine." The document is in a portrait orientation, and the text is in English. The style of the document is formal and informational, typical of a contract or procurement document.]

Well Giger's designs show biomechanical things hidden from the public, so it's a transhumanist push.

Transhumanists and geneticists also want to push things like artificial wombs and genetic engineering, implying you could have only designer babies and incubate them with tech, instead of naturally.

It's the abortion of what we know as human, to usher in "new and improved" or "next gen" humans

The central figure is a man with a surprised expression, lying on his back with his head resting on a wooden surface. Above his head, there is a dog with its tongue sticking out, seemingly in a playful or teasing manner. To the right of the man, there is a woman with a surprised expression, her mouth open as if she is gasping or shouting. The woman's hair is styled in a curly manner, and she has a bow in her hair. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a comic strip or a cartoon, with exaggerated facial expressions and exaggerated body language.]

The person on the left has a short, spiky hairstyle with brown hair, and is wearing red lipstick. The person on the right has blonde hair and is wearing a red top with a white collar. Both individuals are smiling and looking directly at the camera. The background of both images is a red and white color scheme with the letters "R" and "A" visible. The letters are stylized and appear to be part of a logo or brand name. The style of the image is a digital composite, likely created using a photo editing software, as it combines the two photographs into one. The overall style of the image is a humorous and artistic representation of the transformation of a person's appearance.]

Best way to store spatial data?

Shapefile format (.shp, .shx, .dbf, .prj). You can store the location (xyz coords) and attributes.

Use python (shapefile.py). Convert however you store your data into a plain jane shapefile. You can now import your data into all the programs you want to use. Without being stuck in their silly formats.

Also, pay attention to what projection your data is in. Use wgs84, utm, or good ol lat long for ease of use.

Prefer lat long

I am not sure if people here use .python

Everyone knows standard CSV and backend can shape the data once it is received.

>Don't worry about knowing spatial, just record the names, addresses, reasons because you are already looking it up.

AI APIs can take care of the rest

It is not in the average person's vocabulary, and rarely in a leftist vocabulary.

But, before we get too deep into this intel, we need to go over a few questions.

>Hold on just a second! Who the hell is this Anonymous5 fellow anyway?

Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs [KB's] provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing Disease X / Femin Virus, combating human trafficking worldwide, et cetera.

>And why is he so important?

His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere humanly possible. However, be wary of anti-A5 shill campaigns as you spread Knowledge Bomb intel. A massive shill operation is going on against Anonymous5 as we speak.

>And where can I find more of this "Knowledge Bomb" information?

>Hold on! There are so many of these KB's! In which order do I read them in?

We gathered all KB's into Pastebin's, making the work much easier to read. Read them all start-to-finish, as they build upon themselves and expand in impact over time.

Visit the original thread links within each category for more in-depth discussion on specific topics.

[Feminism Virus (Bioweapon Attack)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?

I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity: Women.

>Well, how exactly can I classify these "Femin-infected women"?

There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

>And how exactly do I spot this infection?

Watch out for these symptoms: Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

[/HATE/: HUNTING ALL TRAFFICKING ENTERPRISES: CITY INVESTIGATIONS]

>Wait, what? Trafficking enterprises? City investigations? Is this some kind of game or something?

Trafficking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations. We track all types.

[The image is a black and white line drawing featuring two cartoon characters. The character on the left appears to be a male with a stern expression, wearing a simple white shirt and a black collar. He has a large, angry-looking mouth and is holding a small, round character in his arms. The character on the right is a female with a cheerful expression, wearing a white shirt with a red collar and a large, round orange eye. She has a wide smile and is holding a small, round character in her other hand. The text "LE LE" is written in a stylized font, and the overall style of the image is cartoonish and simplistic.]

[The image is a simple, black and white line drawing that depicts a human face with a bird perched on top of its head. The bird is depicted with a green body, a blue head, and a yellow beak. The face has a frown, and the eyes are wide open. The bird is perched on a nest made of twigs and straw. The drawing is simple and lacks detail, focusing on the interaction between the bird and the human face. There are no texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the drawing is cartoon-like, with a focus on the facial expression and the bird's position on the head.]

[The image is a digital composite of SpongeBob SquarePants, a popular animated character from the "SpongeBob SquarePants" series. SpongeBob is depicted with a yellow sponge-like body, green skin, and a red tie. His face is a blend of his usual cheerful expression and a more serious or contemplative look. The background is a simple, cartoon-style illustration with a greenish hue and a wooden texture.

SpongeBob's right hand is raised, holding a white object that resembles a shovel or a similar tool. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a humorous image, often used for comedic or lighthearted purposes.]

>Reaching out to brothers on /pol/

>Need info on the Rochester Public Library

Someone had a big thread going about it and its creepy as fuck (i live here), and this neon sign in the Children's Section shines out onto the street where people are walking by.

The Woman who runs the library is Audrey Betcher, the Dike Widow of a Shriner who met an untimely death in 2012. She is U.N. connected through the Together Initiative.

She carries out high levels of subversive and degenerate community organizing and LGBT-oriented programming at the Rochester Public Library. The neon signs, as we know, display symbols associated with p--filia.

I want to take this fucking place down. Even if there isn't any abuse going on there, the leadership is a highly destructive force in the community, and as Rochester, MN becomes increasingly international due to the Mayo Clinic, the market for child trafficking skyrockets. We have lots of rich Saudis fly in and set up temporary residence in a large apartment building on Broadway, which is CONNECTED TO THE LIBRARY BY TUNNEL.

Can you help me brothers? The RPL Instagram is a place to start.....lots of LGBT content and pictures of children (sometimes overlapping), as well as a quite obvious fascination with Chicken.

I often wondered how easy it might be to fool people into eating human meat, wonder if they don't try to pass it off as chicken sometimes. The babies would be a little more like chicken the ham or roast beef or jerky because of all that softness and baby fat, the meat would fall off the bone. I hope that is sufficiently disturbing for you to no longer care if they arrest you for burning that place to the ground should you run a dna sample. Also Chicken to me and some of mine means angels who sit by and do nothing or stuff us in prison for trying to stop this exact type of shit. It's code for winged cucks. Or sometimes just Cops/ MP's

[The image is a photograph featuring a group of soldiers in camouflage uniforms. The soldiers are standing in a line, with their backs to the camera, and appear to be in a relaxed state, possibly during a break or a casual gathering. The soldiers are equipped with various items, including backpacks, and some are holding rifles. The photograph is overlaid with a series of text boxes, each containing a different question or statement. The text is in a mix of English and what appears to be a non-English script, suggesting that the text is in a language other than English. The questions and statements are written in a casual, conversational tone, and they seem to be related to the soldiers' activities or experiences. The text boxes are arranged in a grid-like pattern, with some boxes overlapping each other, creating a layered effect. The colors of the text vary, with some being in bold and others in a lighter shade, which draws attention to the questions and statements. The background of the image is a natural setting with trees and foliage, indicating that the gathering is taking place in a wooded area. The overall style of the image is a blend of a candid photograph with overlaid text, creating a humorous or satirical representation of military life.]

Humans are omnivores possessing free will. Judging a vegan that does not proselytize/ politicize their dietary choice is just as stupid as being a vegan that honestly believes everyone needs to stop eating meat because of their feels.

You've got to help me with these few questions. It's been bothering me for the longest time, and I don't know how to answer it or even configure a question for it. Well, here it goes:

1. Has there been any documented cases of fictional characters (not cosplayers, but like the actual character from the TV show / movie) entering into our universe and causing some trouble?
2. Is it possible for a man in the "real world" to enter into a "fictional world" with inter-dimensional technology, or is fiction on a completely separate plane of reality?

3. Assuming that No. 2 is true, then is it possible for someone from our live-action universe to enter into a cartoon universe through trans-dimensional technology?

4. If I entered into a two-dimensional cartoon universe, would I immediately become a flat, two-dimensional sketch as soon as I entered? I remember that topic being discussed in a fucking Jimmy Neutron episode, believe it or not.

4a. Would the transition from a 3D person into a cartoon hurt?

Women are much closer to death and nature than men. A lot of pregnancies ends up in miscarriages anyway.

All a woman has to do to prove her worth is to bear children. Everything else can be regarded as a nice bonus.

There's no male equivalent to motherhood. Everything a man does be it wage war, write books, program computers, tar roofs, create art, train horses, do research etc is just a substitute for motherhood.

A man that says that "if I was a woman, I would never X" is not a real man. He's just a half-man. An aberration the catholic church is producing on an industrial grade.

Look into your feelings, you know it's true.

>The legendary activist's new limited-edition makeup collaboration—a paraben- and cruelty-free lip treatment named In the Clear, which is out today—was crafted with the social justice beauty brand The Lipstick Lobby, which has worked with the likes of Planned Parenthood and the Brady Center to Prevent Gun Violence. When the brand tapped Steinem for its next capsule collection, she chose the UnPrison Project. The nonprofit—founded by activist and author Deborah Jiang-Stein, who was born in a Virginia prison to a mother suffering from drug addiction—aims to equip incarcerated women with the tools and skill sets to live a fulfilling life after release. Since the organization was founded in 2012, it has already reached 10 percent of the total female prison population in the U.S., or 20,000 incarcerated women.

>All a woman has to do to prove her worth is to bear children.

And they're not even doing that these days.

Men have to actually try, and their motivation pushes society forward. That's what testosterone does, makes people take risks and compete. Women have much less testosterone on average, and less drive to risk and try.

Women want more equality in rewards but don't and often can't undertake the same responsibilities that men must to get those rewards. They are shirking their gender roles because they don't want to bear children and cannot bond with them or the males. Their endocrine system and brain structure evolved for specific tasks and they have ruined society and future generations by refusing to do what nature intended.

[The image is a vintage-style illustration with a cartoonish and humorous tone. It is divided into four panels, each depicting a different scenario related to the origin and development of a suffragette. In the top left panel, a young girl is shown holding a baby doll and wearing a bonnet. She is depicted in a joyful and carefree manner, suggesting a positive early life. The top right panel shows a woman with a coquettish expression, wearing a red dress and a white hat. She is holding a small doll and appears to be in a playful mood. The bottom left panel features a woman with a shocked expression, wearing a yellow dress and a red hat. She is holding a hammer and appears to be in a distressed or angry state. The bottom right panel shows a woman with a determined expression, wearing a red dress and a white hat. She is holding a small doll and appears to be in a serious or determined mood. The text at the top of the image reads "ORIGIN AND DEVELOPMENT OF A Suffragette." The text is in a bold, capitalized font and is placed in the center of the image, drawing attention to the theme of the illustration. The style of the image is reminiscent of early 20th-century illustrations, with a focus on the portrayal of women and their roles in society. The use of color and the cartoonish style contribute to the humorous and light-hearted tone of the image.]

[The image is a cartoon-style illustration divided into four panels, each depicting a different scenario related to the origin and development of feminism. In the top left panel, there is a cartoon of a woman in a yellow tank top and blue shorts, standing in a bathroom stall. She is looking at a computer screen displaying a message that reads "I'm not like other women." The text suggests a comparison to other women, possibly implying a sense of being different or unique. The top right panel shows a group of people, including a man and a woman, standing in a line. The man is shirtless and has a muscular build, while the woman is wearing a blue dress and has red hair. They appear to be waiting in line, possibly for a service or event. The bottom left panel shows a woman sitting at a computer, looking at a screen with a list of names and numbers. The text on the screen is not clear, but it seems to be a list of names and numbers, possibly related to a database or list. The bottom right panel features a woman with red hair, wearing glasses and a white lab coat. She is looking at a computer screen with a message that reads "At 30 even still alone getting pissed..." The text suggests a sense of isolation and frustration, possibly due to the age of the woman and the lack of support or understanding from others. The image is overlaid with text that reads "Origin and Development of a Feminist," suggesting that the content is related to the history and development of feminism. The text is in a bold, sans-serif font and is white, making it stand out against the colorful background. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and expressive, with a focus on the emotions and experiences of the characters. The use of color and the contrast between the characters and the background create a dynamic and engaging visual narrative.]

[The image is a digital graphic with a cartoonish style, featuring a character with blonde hair and a surprised expression. The character has a large, open mouth with a tongue sticking out, and a pair of eyes that appear to be wide open. The character's hair is styled in two ponytails, one on each side of its head. The character is wearing a blue ribbon around its neck with the text "CUM SULT" written on it. In the bottom right corner of the image, there is a small collection of pills and a pill bottle, suggesting a medical or health-related theme. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the colorful elements in the foreground. At the top of the image, there is a text that reads "MMM Birth Control," which is likely a reference to the birth control method. The text is in a bold, sans-serif font. The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on the use of birth control as a form of self-pleasure.]

[The image is a collage of various elements, likely intended to represent a humorous or satirical scenario. At the center of the image is a cartoon-style drawing of a woman with her mouth open, revealing her teeth, and her eyes wide with a surprised expression. She has blonde hair and is wearing a strapless top. To the right of the woman, there is a glass of red wine with a wine glass and a wine bottle inside it. The wine glass is filled to the brim with wine. Above the glass, there is a purple pill with a pillbox and a pill label. To the right of the woman, there is a pair of black high-heeled shoes with a peep-toe design. The background of the image is white, and there is a logo for "tinder" in the bottom right corner. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and exaggerated, with a focus on humor.]

[The image is a digital graphic with a cartoonish style, featuring a character with blonde hair and a surprised expression. The character has a large, open mouth with a tongue sticking out, and a pair of eyes that appear to be wide open. The character's hair is styled in two ponytails, one on each side of its head. The character is wearing a blue ribbon around its neck with the text "CUM SULT" written on it. In the bottom right corner of the image, there is a small collection of pills and a pill bottle, suggesting a medical or health-related theme. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the colorful elements in the foreground. At the top of the image, there is a text that reads "MMM Birth Control," which is likely a reference to the birth control method. The text is in a bold, sans-serif font. The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on the use of birth control as a form of self-pleasure.]

[The image is a close-up photograph of a dog's head, which appears to be a Chihuahua breed. The dog has a light brown coat and is looking directly at the camera with a neutral expression. The dog's eyes are black, and its ears are perked up, giving it a somewhat attentive or curious look. The background is out of focus, with a hint of a door or wall, suggesting that the photo might have been taken indoors. There are no visible texts or other discernible objects in the image. The style of the image is candid and informal, with a focus on the dog's facial expression.]

[The image is a candid photograph of a brown dog standing on a sandy ground. The dog appears to be in a state of alertness, with its ears perked up and eyes focused forward. The dog's fur is a rich, warm brown color, and it has a short coat. The ground around the dog is sandy, with small rocks scattered around. The lighting in the photo is natural, suggesting an outdoor setting. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is realistic, capturing a moment in the life of the dog.]

[The image is a stylized cartoon or digital illustration featuring a woman with dark hair, predominantly black, and a stern expression. Her eyes are large and dark, and her eyebrows are arched. She has a pink blush on her cheeks and a tear in her eye, suggesting a sense of sadness or distress. The woman's mouth is closed, and her lips are thin. She is holding a gun in her right hand, which is depicted in a realistic style with a visible trigger. The gun is silver and appears to be a revolver. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the woman's dark hair and the gun, making them stand out. There are no texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the image is cartoonish and seems to be designed for a humorous or satirical purpose.]

[The image is a vibrant and colorful digital illustration featuring a large, stylized face with a surprised expression, surrounded by a group of cartoonish characters. The face appears to be the central figure, with a large, open mouth and wide eyes. The characters surrounding the face are predominantly green and blue, with some having exaggerated features such as large eyes and exaggerated mouths. The background is a gradient of purple and blue hues, with a partial view of the American flag visible at the top. The style of the image is reminiscent of pop art, with a focus on bold colors and exaggerated forms. There is a watermark in the bottom right corner that reads "@skincube," indicating the artist's name.]

[Feminism Virus (Bioweapon Attack)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?

I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity: Women.

>Well, how exactly can I classify these "Femin-infected women"?

There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

>And how exactly do I spot this infection?

Watch out for these symptoms: Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

[The image is a black and white line drawing of a person's head and upper body. The person appears to be a male with curly hair, wearing glasses and a choker around the neck. The drawing is simplistic and lacks shading, focusing on the contours and facial features. There are no texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the drawing is reminiscent of a meme or a digital art piece, often used for humorous or satirical purposes.]

To me, the most suspicious things here is the fact that the international team investigating refuses to use a Russian made Buk missile to model the impact on the plane. Why would you need to use a US made model in these tests, unless you suspected that model was the one actually used?

This wouldn't be the first time that the US acquired Soviet or Russian munitions and equipment to stage a false flag, they also planned to do it for Operation Northwoods.

<http://baltimorepostexaminer.com/operation-northwoods-us-joint-chiefs-staff-slid-insanity/2017/04/21>

The US refused to release a statement blaming Russia for shooting down the airliner this year.

>Hold on just a second! Who the hell is this Anonymous5 fellow anyway?

Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs [KB's] provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing Disease X / Femin Virus, combating human trafficking worldwide, et cetera.

>And why is he so important?

His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere humanly possible. However, be wary of anti-A5 shill campaigns as you spread Knowledge Bomb intel. A massive shill operation is going on against Anonymous5 as we speak.

>And where can I find more of this "Knowledge Bomb" information?

[Feminism Virus (Bioweapon Attack)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?

I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity: Women.

>Well, how exactly can I classify these "Femin-infected women"?

There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

>And how exactly do I spot this infection?

Watch out for these symptoms: Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

[/HATE/: HUNTING ALL TRAFFICKING ENTERPRISES: CITY INVESTIGATIONS]

>Wait, what? Trafficking enterprises? City investigations? Is this some kind of game or something?

Trafficking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations. We track all types.

These generals are for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking various trafficking networks and enterprises. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

[The image is a meme featuring a character from the Marvel Comics universe, specifically Spider-Man, in a humorous pose. The character is depicted in a close-up view, with his face partially obscured by his hand, which is holding a webbing-like object. His eyes are wide open, and he appears to be in a thoughtful or contemplative state. The background is a gradient of blue and orange, with a white speech bubble containing the text "WHAT? SPIDERMAN THREAD? NICE." The text is in a bold, sans-serif font and is centered within the speech bubble. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and exaggerated, typical of meme-style content.]

[The image is a candid photograph of a man standing in front of a white wall. He appears to be in a room with a shelf containing various items, including what looks like CDs or DVDs. The man is wearing a light-colored, possibly silver, raincoat with a visible zipper. He has dark hair and is looking directly at the camera with a surprised or surprised expression. His right hand is raised, pointing towards the camera, and his left hand is resting on his hip. The lighting in the room is soft, and the man's expression suggests he is in the middle of speaking or explaining something. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is informal and appears to be taken in a candid moment.]

Do you still KML dump to Pastebin?

>open KML in TextEditor

>Copy and paste into a paste bin.

Just make sure you didn't name any places/things that would identify you and only export the places that you are referencing.

Others can then save that pastebin as a text file, rename it to KML and import it.

You can also import that PP Csv into your maps, and turn it into a KML.

[The image is a digital illustration of a character that resembles a frog with a smiling expression. The frog has a large, round head with two large, round eyes that are wide open, giving the impression of a friendly or happy demeanor. Its mouth is closed, and its eyes are looking directly at the viewer. The frog's skin is a vibrant green, and its body is depicted in a simple, cartoon-like style. The background is a solid, light blue color, which contrasts with the green of the frog. There are no texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the illustration is reminiscent of a meme or a cartoon, with a focus on the character's facial expression and the color palette.]

[The image is a meme featuring a man with a serious expression, set against a backdrop of a grassy field with a few trees in the distance. The man is holding a large, curved object that appears to be a weapon, possibly a rifle or a bow. The text overlaying the image reads, "YOU JUST WENT FULL RETARD NEVER GO FULL RETARD." The style of the image is a combination of a meme and a photograph, with the meme text superimposed over the image. The overall tone of the meme is humorous, with the text suggesting a playful or ironic commentary on the man's actions or behavior.]

referencing a popular phrase or a character from a video game or movie.]

> There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

>Traffcking

Trafficking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities.

This here is where you post any and all KB's [Knowledge Bomb] and any related red pills.

>ALL /A5G/ GENERALS

<https://pastebin.com/P7JPPRvW>

But, before we get neck-deep in info, we need to go over a few questions.

>Hey, who is this Anonymous5 fellow anyway?

Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing the Feminism bioweapon, combating human trafficking worldwide, et cetera.

>And why is this important?

His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere humanly possible. However, be wary of anti-A5 shill campaigns as you spread Knowledge Bomb intel. A massive shill operation is going on against Anonymous5 as we speak.

>Interesting. Where can I find more of this Knowledge Bomb information?

[The image is a composite of two separate photographs, both of which are of the same building, which appears to be a modern skyscraper. The building has a glass facade and is situated in a cityscape with a clear blue sky above. The photograph on the left shows the building in its original state, with a large, weathered stone structure that appears to be a pyramid or temple. The photograph on the right shows the building in a different state, with the same glass facade but with a different color scheme, suggesting a modern or contemporary design. Overlaying the two photographs is a text that reads "CHILD SACRIFICE" in large, bold, white letters. Below the text, in smaller white font, is the year "1515" and "2015." The text and the year are positioned in such a way that they appear to be superimposed over the two photographs, creating a visual juxtaposition between the past and the present. The text and the year are the only elements in the image that are not part of the photographs. The overall style of the image is a satirical or humorous commentary on the concept of sacrifice, with the juxtaposition of the ancient structure and the modern building symbolizing the passage of time and the transformation of architecture.]

[FEMINISM VIRUS (BIOWEAPON)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?

I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity: Women.

> There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Birth control/contraceptives (pill/IUD etc) cause frontal lobe damage to women due to how they affect the chemistry of the brain and hormones.

How civilizations fall

by Kenneth Minogue

On the role of radical feminism in the decline of civilization.

Share

How do civilizations fall? Islamic thinkers had an image for it. Consider a civilization based upon a court in a thriving city— Baghdad, for example. Arts and the intellect flourish. But over several generations, as the great Islamic philosopher of the fourteenth century Ibn Khaldun put it, the civilized become decadent with luxury. They lose their sharpness and think only of the good and the beautiful. And then some tribe of fierce Bedouin, smelling out weakness, come thundering in from the desert and storm the city. As barbarians, they do not understand the usages of civilization. They stable their horses in the libraries and use sculptures as doorstops, pictures for target practice. Given a pillow, Ibn Khaldun tells us contemptuously, they suppose it to be a bundle of rags. In time, however, the power of a superior culture is felt, and these people adopt and sometimes extend the ways of civilization, until they too are overthrown in their turn. This is the way the world goes. Sometimes it happens in one lifetime, as with those barbarian soldiers who rose to become Roman emperors, sometimes in slow motion, as with the fall of the Roman Empire, in which many centuries were to elapse before the new civilization emerged from the disorders of the barbarian invasions. With us, the decor is quite different, but the realities may be closer than we suppose. One reason we may not realize this is that the very distinction between barbarism and civilization has been suppressed by the current relativism, which asserts the equality of all cultures. Nobody, of course, seriously believes this. Quite apart from technology, the moral inequality of cultures is conspicuous in the position of women in different cultures. It was only the West that abolished slavery. But it is a mark of current decorum—perhaps avoidance of the dreaded “triumphalism”—that we should not proclaim any superiority in European civilization, even though it is the one place the millions want to get into. Instead, we must make do with a rationalist doctrine which transposes the usages of European civilization into a rather unsatisfactory set of abstractions about universal rights. By this device, all cultures (including the Western) can equally be found guilty of moral violation in one way or another.

In the past, civilization was a sensibility shared by a class of people, while barbarism would be found not only in tribes beyond the frontier, but also in the slaves and the servile within the realms of civilization itself. In modern liberal democracies, this clear relation between a culture and a class has disappeared. Everyone is touched by the higher forms of culture. Schooling, museums, and the media are available to all. But barbarism remains an active force in modern societies, partly in gracelessness and ignorance, and partly in a loss of cultural coherence found among those who mistake a few years at an institution of higher learning for education itself.

In modern Europe, we don't quite have Bedouin storming in from the desert (merely millions of depressed migrants trying to slip through the gates), but the tendency towards barbarism is an active force all around us. Hence the formula for overthrowing a Western society must be not "storm the walls" but "organize your own barbarians" within the walls. Those who hate European civilization know that it cannot be taken by direct assault. It must thus be captured from within. This was the plan adopted by many revolutionaries, most notably, of course, by Marx who constructed a new and hostile tribe within the West called "the proletariat." They could be made into a revolutionary tribe by equipping suitable people (industrial workers for example) with a unified consciousness, so that in every transaction they understood themselves as a collective. They were being victimized by the oppressive bourgeois. Like the guardians in Plato's Republic, these revolutionary insurgents had to be taught to be docile within the movement while snarling at those without.

Marx provided the model for all subsequent movements aiming to take power. His "make your own tribe" kit was found useful by nationalists, anarchists, and many brands of socialist. Hitler made the most creative use of it by playing down victimization and representing every Aryan as a superior type of person. It took the world in arms to get rid of him. But before long, revolutionaries discovered that a revolution based on the proletarian tribe only really worked if you were dealing with pretty unsophisticated peoples—preferably non-Europeans who lacked all experience of freedom and genuine political life. In socially mobile European states, the workers mostly found better things to do with their time than waste it on revolutionary committees and the baby talk of political demonstrations. Something new was needed.

It was provided by such socialists as Mussolini and Lenin who adopted the principle of the Praetorian Guard: a tightly knit vanguard party, which could use the masses as ventriloquial dummies and seek power on its own terms. This development was part of a wider tendency towards the emergence of oligarchies ruling through democratic slogans.

In the course of the 1960s, a new tribe was established that also sought to overthrow the Western citadel from within and had notably greater success. This was Betty Friedan's radical feminists. It was a tribe constructed out of women who had taken some sort of degree and were living domestic lives. Technology had largely liberated them from the rigors of beating, sweeping, and cleaning, while pharmacology had released them from excessive procreation. In tactical terms, radical feminists made one innovation that has turned out to be crucial to the destiny of the West over the last half century. They suppressed almost completely the idea that their project involved a transfer of power and operated entirely on the moralistic principle that their demands corresponded to justice.

Radical feminists suppressed almost completely the idea that their project involved a transfer of power and operated entirely on moralistic principle.

What lay behind this momentous development? It is a complicated question, but I think that Diana Schaub understood the essence of it in her essay "On the Character of Generation X": 1

[Betty] Friedan was right that the malaise these privileged women were experiencing was a result of "a slow death of the mind and spirit." But she was wrong in saying that the problem had no name—its name was boredom. Feminism was born of boredom, not oppression. And what was the solution to this quandary? Feminists clamored to become wage-slaves; they resolutely fled the challenge of leisure.

And by "leisure," Professor Schaub means something classically Greek: the higher employment of the mind once the necessities of life have been dealt with.

The first task of this new movement was to create the shared consciousness necessary for tribal functioning. Like all forms of psychic collectivism, "consciousness raising" (as it is known) exploits indignation and cultivates righteousness. It operated in this case with the basic liberatory image of the prison and, identifying happiness with being in the labor force, argued that only male oppression over the centuries had "confined" women to the domestic sphere. What radical feminism essentially did was to deny complementarity between the sexes and set men and women up as competing teams playing exactly the same game, but a game in which all the rules were stacked against the women. It was only on this eccentric assumption—i.e., that women had identical talents and inclinations to men—that they could support the conclusion that there had been foul play. As with Hitler's appeal to the Aryan race, the basic principle was one of flattery: women, it revealed, are a marvelously talented set of people who have been iniquitously suppressed by males running a patriarchal system.

This message entrenched identity politics, an emerging form of fundamentalism in which every judgment must begin from a supposedly essential self-identity as female. One implication (as with Marxism) was that a class of experts understood social reality better than any particular woman could, and any woman failing to agree needed the falsity of her consciousness corrected. Joined together, these judgments constituted the new doctrine now simply called "feminism." This was a massive psychic transformation in the life of European peoples. Back in the Second World War, Rosie the riveter was certainly a woman, but she was also a wife, a patriotic American involved in a struggle against fascism, and many other things besides. Most fundamentally of all, radical feminism attacked the very conception of the feminine as something that had been imposed upon women by superior force and had been reinforced by a culture of romance found in European art and literature.

All of this might be construed (as it was by radical feminists themselves) as a massive access of confidence among women, but it might also signify a complete collapse of the feminine in the face of a wider and more ambiguous project using women to create a totally androgynous (and manipulable) world. In such a world, men and women would become virtually indistinguishable.

Here then was nothing less than an attempt to destroy not merely an existing structure of power, but also the civilization that it sustained. In Ibn Khaldun's terms, it was an attempt to conquer the West from within, not by directly attacking its power (for no one doubted that the men had all the power needed to repel such an attack), but by exploiting certain features in its culture. And in order to understand the significance of this movement, we need to characterize the European civilization that was the object of their attack.

The most obvious fact about it is one that we can hardly mention, now that the revolution has succeeded, without embarrassment or derision, because it is a fact which powerful contemporary forces make recessive. It is simply that this civilization is, in the crude terms of creative hits, the achievement of white males. The history of Western civilization is a succession of clever men developing the set of traditions or inventing the benefits which, intertwined, constitute the West. And from Thales and Euclid to Einstein and George Gershwin, nearly all of them were male. They constitute the set of "dead white males" whom the radical revolutionaries in the sub-academic culture have denigrated and vowed to remove from their pedestals. I once heard a feminist put it this way: "There's no such thing as a great mind." This doctrine is so powerful that the simple factual statement that it has been men who have created what is commonly meant by Western (and for that matter, any other) civilization seems like an insensitive affront to the equality of mankind. And the next step in my argument must be to deal with this as a problem.

To say that men created all these things is true, and significant, but it is rather like stranding a lot of fish on a barren shore. It leaves out the medium of social and political life without which none of this could have happened. Like all social life, Europe was a world of sexual complementarity, and there is no reliable way of sifting out what was contributory from what was not. But of women we may say what Falstaff said of himself—namely that he not only had wit but also was a cause of wit in others. But by seeming to set women up as a weak team in relation to inventive men, I am merely pointing to the mistake radical feminists, who have accepted the abstract idea that the one thing that counts is who invented this or created that, themselves make. It is in pursuit of this mistake that they have attempted to set up a competing canon of writers, philosophers, painters, and so on whose talents were suppressed by the patriarchy. These resuscitated figures are often worth looking at in their own terms, but they cannot serve as a new canon. Camille Paglia famously said that if we had waited for women to invent civilization we should still be living in grass huts. It is also true that if we had waited for men to make life comfortable we should still be living in pigsties. For centuries women have determined the way we live. Radical feminist doctrine is that this is not enough: women can only be recognized as equal, and enjoy equality of esteem with men, if they are recognized as excelling in exactly the same activities as men. Women must, as a team, be able to point to a scoreboard of artistic and technological achievements on the same scale as men. Feminist tribal consciousness depends upon absorbing this and similar beliefs. But the whole rigmarole depends upon assuming that women are the same as men, that their happiness is found in exactly the same areas as that of men. But this is quite untrue, and it is a mistake that could only have occurred to a set of women whose minds had been deranged by a superficial contact with education in the humanities.

The point can be put another way: Western civilization is distinguished by an unusual curiosity about both nature and the lives of other societies. Europeans have appropriated many of their ideas and inventions from other civilizations. Partly for this reason, it has been extraordinarily open to others who wish to engage in its activities. Its religion, its languages, and its knowledge have been widely diffused, and by the twentieth century people from all over the world had become scientists, historians, novelists, artists, etc., in the Western manner, many of them indeed coming to live in the West. Some people from customary societies abroad have found Westerners cold and remote, but many more have experienced the West as a liberation.

The same is true for women. At various times in the past many women have had access to education, and, from the eighteenth century onwards, some women developed an increasing taste for taking up professions previously restricted to men. By the late nineteenth century they were making their way into universities. In doing so, they often suffered a certain derision from the more brutish among their male confrères. Other men were always on their side, however, and during the first half of the twentieth century women broke into many fields previously restricted by convention. Radical feminism as a tribal consciousness needs to tell this story as a struggle against oppression, and so in some ways it was. But we ought not to get this out of proportion. We are not talking of slavery or war.

Radical feminism as a tribal consciousness needs to tell this story as a struggle against oppression, and so in some ways it was. But we ought not to get this out of proportion.

The beneficiaries of this new development were for the most part middle-class white women, and they were merely experiencing the resistance common to any form of upward mobility. They were unmistakably following a rising wave created by the increasing flexibility of Western societies. It was in any case a Christian civilization, which meant that individual character counted as much as customary status. In most civilizations, human beings fit into a customary schema as warriors, wives, priests, scholars, artisans, merchants, and so on. The West became, as Ernest Gellner used to put it, "modular" in that individuals have multiple talents and skills and can fit together with others in flexible ways responding to new situations. Like furniture that can be rearranged at need, Europeans have the versatility to fit into many possible arrangements of work or pleasure. As women began to develop a taste for education and had opportunities to participate in a world beyond the domestic (previously available only to the rich), they soon succeeded (as they usually do) in getting what they wanted. Liberal feminism was thus a natural development from within the civilization. Suddenly in the 1960s, this development was overridden by the new radical doctrine that women could and should do everything men did. Liberal feminism emerged from the Western tradition, and traditions are flexible. It had no problem in admitting women to new professions without dramatically altering the wider relations between the sexes. But, radical feminism was doctrinaire and demanded that all women should live in the one true manner. A melodrama of oppression was needed to fire up the new tribe. Just as Buddhist priests must meditate on a human skull so that they will develop the right consciousness of human mortality, so feminist doctrine thrives on horror stories of women not allowed to take degrees at Oxbridge until this century. By contrast with the horrors of the twentieth century (or indeed the situation of women elsewhere in the world), we may diagnose a certain lack of proportion.

The openness of Western cultures is shown by the way in which, during the first half of the twentieth century, Western women were enjoying higher education and finding distinction in professional and academic fields. The numbers of women who largely devoted their lives to these fields was relatively small, and some people thought this was a problem, but it was only a problem for those who took their bearings from statistics rather than from the responses of actual people. The false assumption of male and female isomorphism is, however, the reason why at frequent intervals feminists in journalism become lobbyists and set up, as a defect in society, any difference in average wages between men and women or in the relative percentages of women in top jobs. This was the continual drip of the movement against patriarchy, and it is a well-known principle of propaganda that a proposition repeated enough will crush opposition. But these figures and this argument make no rational sense, and the fact that they appear regularly in newspapers as if they did make sense is why they must be challenged.

The key to modern Western civilization is its openness to talent wherever found. The feminist demand for collective quotas has overturned this basic feature of our civilization. The crucial point is that the character of a civilization is revealed by its understanding of achievement. European civilization responded to achievement wherever it could be found. To replace achievement by quota entitlements is to destroy one civilization from within and to replace it with another. We are no longer what we were. The problem is to explain how the West collapsed.

It did not result from warriors storming the walls of a decadent civilization, but by a fifth column exploiting weakness from within. And the weapon of attack was not the sword, but a moral rhetoric demanding justice. Economic and political implications (such as that able men would be denied jobs now having to be filled by quota) seldom featured in discussion. The defenders of the status quo found themselves profoundly confused, partly because they had earlier acquiesced in regarding moral and religious ideas as merely subjective. They could not agree on a line of defense, and the attack often came from within their own families. The objective of the attack was to get women with degrees into the higher ranks of the labor force. Of the more profound implications of this structural collapse, I am not here concerned. I must concentrate on the more pressing question of why the defenders so easily capitulated.

In earlier centuries, the project of getting women into the labor force would have been visionary, partly no doubt because no one thought in terms of a labor force. For one thing, women were necessary to keep the home fires burning. In any case, the world of work outside the hearth was hardly inviting. Ploughing the land required relentless physical input beyond the strength of most women; nor were they keen to exercise the broadsword. And, during a longish stretch of life, women would have their hands full with bearing and nurturing children.

In the modern world, however, getting women out of the home and into work was not at all visionary, since the thing called "work" was now largely done in centrally heated offices in front of a computer. In the push-button world men had created, physical strength was hardly ever needed, especially in the more attractive jobs. Work had been the curse of Adam, parallel with childbirth as the curse of Eve, but work now turned out to be a rather agreeable shuffling of symbols in an office full of friendship and event. It was not difficult to present this kind of work—the kind that interested the humanities graduates who largely fuelled the radical movement—as a liberation from the confinement of family life and the tedious babble of the toddler. And it fitted into a wider socialist notion that a person's value was the contribution made to the welfare of others. It had been an old dream of Zionist socialists and Bolsheviks (among others) to absorb the family into society with everyone living communally, restaurants and daycare centers replacing family arrangements, and women working each day alongside the men. Here this dream was reborn, no longer as an aspect of utopia, but as the final achievement of justice against an oppressive world.

Let us now turn to the nub of this question: why did the insurrection succeed? There was no question of the insurgents disposing of superior firepower or warrior virtues, though the tribe of radical feminists certainly displayed intrepidity of the first order. Indeed, the key point is that it was their very weakness that was the condition of their success. Even the fact that, intellectually speaking, radical feminism had nothing to say that had not been said by earlier forms of social perfectionism merely meant that the opposition had already been softened up for victimological attack. And for all the indignation about oppression, radical feminists were less a moral force than a naked interest, demanding jobs for their members, jobs carrying the same salaries and status as men. It was even commonly admitted that outstanding women had not in recent times had much trouble making their way in the academic and workaday world. The issue was to get women of merely average abilities into these positions.

In principle, the men held all the cards. They were the managers, the rulers, the professors, and the directors of enterprises. And they were the trustees of the one thing on which their civilization depended: namely, the career open to talent. No doubt there were times where prejudice prevented women from getting such and such a job, but hiring able women was something managers had long been doing. For in the early twentieth century, women resembled Jews: some people might not want to hire them but the failure to recognize ability would soon be punished by competitors stealing an advantage. These considerations soon ceased to apply once radical feminism has established the basic idea (always denied) that the program was to establish a 50 percent quota for women in all desirable jobs.

We may understand what happened by considering a similar assault on tradition mounted about the same time as the radical feminist challenge. In the 1960s the universities of the Western world were shaken by enemies who turned academic self-understanding against itself. Universities were commonly recognized as communities of scholars and students. "Well," said the radicals, "if it's a community, why are we students left out in the cold, with no power on university committees? Why are we not consulted about the content of our curricula? Why are we subject to god-professors imposing on us courses of study irrelevant to our needs?" Dazed and confused by these questions, which were often expressed (as is the technique) with almost samurai displays of fearsome aggression, the dons yielded. They betrayed their trust in the scholarly vocation partly from confusion and partly in order to avoid unpleasantness.

This example not only illuminates the success of radical feminism, but also reveals something of the long-term significance of these massive shifts of power. For the real threat to universities came not from students but from government. Students were a minor irritant in academic life, but governments were now bent on destroying the autonomy of the institutions of civil society. Students merely functioned as their fifth column. They had the effect of forcing universities even more into a public domain. Students wanted the academic to become the political and that was the effect they had. Before 1960 universities largely ran their own affairs. By the beginning of the twenty-first century, they had all succumbed to the state subsidies that destroyed their autonomy. The success of the radical feminist assault on European civilization operated in a parallel fashion. "You say you believe in equal opportunities for women, but why are there no women in management, or as bishops, or as professors, or heads of big corporations?" "Why are women paid on average only x percent of what men get paid?" The real answers to these questions would take one deep into the role and structure of the traditional family, the difference between the things that make men and women happy, and the different relative suitability of men and women for different tasks. And such real answers would obviously have to dissolve the rather gross distinction between "men" and "women" in order to recognize that, over a wide range of activities, especially activities such as those of management, it was the individual that counted, not what in technical femspeak is called "gender."

Any recognition of these complexities dissolved before the fact that the questions being asked were rhetorical. In fact, as with student radicals, they were not questions at all, but slogans masquerading as questions. These pseudo-questions set the agenda, and the only admissible answers would be the dogmas of the doctrine: Only patriarchal oppression prevented men and women being equally represented in "positions of power."

The politics of this assault were clear enough, and they illustrate what Mancur Olsen diagnosed as the Achilles heel of democracy: that a small group passionately campaigning for specific benefits will always prevail against a large majority whose direct interests are but marginally affected. Radical feminists were a relatively small group, but their message was plausible at some level to most women, and in families men had wives and daughters whose good they wished to promote. No political party would take up all of this program, but it did electoral prospects no harm to convey a general sympathy for the cause, and once in government enthusiasts would advance legislation under the motherhood slogan of equal opportunity. Very soon a network of powerful bureaucracies was bringing radical doctrine to bear on all areas of government. The courts could be relied upon to extend their power by regulating contract and by extending the law of tort. Within a generation, the revolution had not only succeeded but also created throughout Western nations an occupying army of equal opportunity officers entrenched in personnel departments up and down the country.

And why not? It might well be demanded. Many women have great abilities and a modern society ought not to abide by conventions which may have been necessary in the past but which progress had made unnecessary. The most successful societies have been those in which women have been freest to participate widely. All of that is true and was already recognized in the advance of liberal feminism before the 1960s. The problem only arises with female quotas throughout the world of work.

In a few significant areas, however, no such demands are made. These areas are either where women graduates have no wish to go (rough outdoor work) or where lack of ability could lead to instant disaster, such as brain surgery or piloting commercial aircraft. Women are to be found in both, but only on the basis of ability. Universities are obviously a soft touch because the consequences of educational betrayal take decades to emerge. The effect of university quotas for "gender diversity" for example has often been to fill humanities departments with women in order to equalize numbers "distorted" (one might say) by technology and the hard sciences where even passably able women are hard to come by. Many women in the humanities departments are indeed very able, but many are not, and they have often prospered by setting up fanciful ideological courses (especially in women's studies), which can hardly pretend to be academic at all.

What however of areas where women are patently unsuited—such as the army, the police force, or fire fighting? They have in fact all been under attack because although women are unsuited to the rough work at the bottom, these areas have enviable managerial opportunities higher up. They are one more irresistible gravy train. The fire-fighting case was dramatized by the New York judicial decision that a test of fitness for the force that nearly all women failed must be discriminatory, and therefore illegal, an extension of the idea of “the rule of law” far beyond any serious meaning. This was the doctrine called “disparate impact.” Similar considerations have affected women in the armed forces. Standards of entry have been lowered in order that women may qualify. One argument for so doing is that the rejected tests looked for qualities only rarely needed in the field, and that may indeed be true. Yet, the idea that soldiers are heroic figures doing something that women generally cannot do has forever been part of the self-understanding of men, even those who have never heard a shot fired in anger. A small boy inclined to cry out at the sting of iodine or the prick of an injection might be told “be a soldier.” Today according to the feminist doctrine he is more likely to be told to express his feelings.

The assault of women on areas such as the church raises similar issues. In principle there is not the slightest reason why women should not take on a priestly role, and one might indeed suspect that feminists may be right in diagnosing resistance in part to an unhealthy attitude to women on the part of some of the clergy. In a pastoral role, women might well be better than men, as some women are in politics. The problem is that women priests raise very awkward questions of Christian theology. Jesus selected only male disciples. Was the son of God then merely a creature of his own culture? Here most conspicuously the entry of women changes entirely the conception of the activity and not for the better. Female clergy have done little to reverse the current decline of the church. Indeed while women as individuals have often enhanced what they have joined, the entry of women in general has seldom done much for any area previously dominated by men—except, significantly, bureaucracy.

It is the military case that is the most telling. No one doubts the inferiority of women in physical strength and sport. No football team would think of fielding women against a first-class team of men. Yet the governments of Western countries, currently feeling unthreatened by any major military power, are prepared to gamble their security on female warriors. It would not be so serious if female battalions had been formed whose performance in action could over time be tested in real situations without endangering the security of Western countries. But the feminist program is to make the army, like the rest of society, conform to an idea, and the women want to go where the men are, to be fully integrated so that when dirty and unfeminine jobs must be done, there are men to do them. Liberal feminists took the risk of setting up academic colleges of their own, but radical feminists needed to have men around. They wanted to be integrated. And all of this happened not because political wisdom declared it necessary for the defence of the country, nor because the electorates pushed for it, but as the result of agencies set up legal and bureaucratic strings.

Let us now return to the teasing question of why the male custodians of our civilization sold the pass. Some element of cowardice must certainly be recognized, because the radicals were tribal warriors making ferocious faces and stamping their feet. The defenders were white, male, and middle class, and the radicals had long been engaged in a campaign to erode the morale of each of these abstract categories. They denoted racism, sexism, and elitism respectively. Caricatured in terms of these abstractions, men found it difficult not to be written off as oppressors of women. Again, the defenders were not united. Many had been longstanding advocates of liberal feminism and from confusion believed that radical feminism was merely a rather hysterical version of classical liberalism. Retreat is a notoriously difficult maneuver to control. Each concession could be used to demand further concessions in the name of consistency. Hence the appearance in all English-speaking countries of legislation mandating equal opportunities—and who could possibly be against that? Before long, the movement had taken over the universities, many public bodies, industrial firms and, above all, the media. Quite rapidly, hiring for status-giving jobs requiring degrees had become closely circumscribed by a set of rules. The dogma was that 50 percent of all jobs belonged to women, though the reality of quotas was long denied.

There are, of course, deeper currents. One of them is that men tended to react to radical feminism with a high-minded feeling that nothing but justice, a notoriously fluid idea, should determine public policy. The balancing of justice with power, which constitutes the art of prudence, was being lost. This was a collapse of practical wisdom not difficult to explain. It is a consequence, we may guess, of the collapse of religion in the West. Christianity requires individuals to sacrifice everything for the nicest points of perfection, but it does not require that worldly institutions should do the same. But cocooned as prosperous Westerners so often are from the immediate consequences of folly, and increasingly detached from any profound understanding of the culture that had produced them, the trustees of our civilization have indulged in the most exquisite forms of self-abnegation. They were soon believing, for example, that language itself had rendered women invisible and that justice required the corrective use of the generic feminine. They were no doubt able to indulge such fancies because they had long ago picked up the idea that political correctness was really a bit of a joke, something of no practical significance in the real world. Hardly a week could pass without some piece of politically correct absurdity surfacing and being laughed over and forgotten by the men who had now lost both the will and the capacity to resist.

But beyond lie far deeper currents in Western societies. Just as the ferment in universities led rapidly to the state taking them over, so the ferment of radical feminism carries out the old Bolshevik program of creating a community of homogeneous creatures animated by some single project—in fact, the totalitarianism which, as an external assault on the walls of the West, we thought we had vanquished in battle with external enemies.

My view is, then, that the radical feminist revolution is nothing less than a destruction of our civilization. It has all happened in such a way that people have not yet realized what has happened. And there are some who might say, well, at least it has improved the condition of women. But this, I think, is a mistake. Such a view would accept the initial dichotomy, so fatal to European civilization, that men and women have separate destinies. In fact, of course, they do not. Still, it is no easy business to give an account of quite how they fit together. Indeed, no comprehensive theory of this relationship can be given. But many things we can confidently say. One is that women have specifically feminine qualities of their own which prevent them, as a general rule, from fitting entirely successfully into the structures men have created. No problem, say the radical feminists: let us change the structures! That can indeed be done, but something is lost. The point is that “men” put “women” (if we may generalize wildly) on a pedestal, and also despise them as weak; love and adore them in chivalrous terms, but also tend to oppress them and use them. A parallel ambivalence will be found in the way women treat men. A whole world of games and conventions has grown up around these attitudes, and they look different viewed from the barracks and from the bedroom, in the sitting room or in the shop. Radical feminism is essentially a humorless rationalism which seeks a single right attitude to be imposed on men and women alike.

There is a further point, and a more complex one. European civilization, we might say, has only stayed ahead of the game of world power because it is so remarkably innovative. It lives off ideas. Sometimes academics attempt the paradoxical business of trying to theorize innovation and creativity, but the results are inevitably banal. Creativity is essentially mysterious. Yet every so often, some movement gets into its head the idea that it has cracked the innovation code and found the formula for progress. This is what I am inclined to call the Bolshevik fallacy, because Lenin and his associates actually believed it, and the Soviet Union showed us what happens as a result of such hubris.

But the problem is wider. The whole world is now involved in the business of modernization, which means copying the mode of life constantly being transformed in Europe, and now in America—by white males, now often joined by clever individuals (both men and women) from other parts of the world. Globalization and the computer are the latest of the marvels with which our civilization has astonished the world. The point is that so far, no other civilization has been able to pick up the torch of innovative leadership. It may even be that Europeans themselves have lost the trick, or gone as far as they can go; or it may not. We simply cannot know.

What does seem to be clear, from the record so far, is that women do not have this capacity to innovate. They bring great talents to developing what Thomas Kuhn called “normal science,” but they have no record of creating the “paradigm shifts” that lead in new directions. It may be, of course, that as the feminists sometimes claim, this is because they were never encouraged to engage in these activities. But to need encouragement, to depend on models to follow, is precisely not to have a capacity to innovate. It has been men who have invented things and found challenges in nature, such as climbing high mountains or sailing alone around the world. And once men have done it, women will also do it. These remain highly notable enterprises, well beyond the reach of all but a few men, but they also exemplify the fact that innovation remains largely the specialization of white males. Women can do marvellous things with a house, but they do need the house to be there in the first place.

We may laugh at political correctness, but it is a manacle around our hands.

My argument is, then, that European civilization has been attacked and conquered from within, without anyone quite realizing what has happened. We may laugh at political correctness—some people even deny that it exists—but it is a manacle around our hands. It binds us quite tightly, though some freedom must be left, because without the contribution of subjugated males, things would very rapidly decline. What political correctness amounts to in reality is a treaty of accommodation reached between the conquerors and the conquered. Women have forced their way into money and status, sometimes beyond their merits, but they have also lost a freedom (Professor Schaub calls it “leisure”) that might have saved them from being formularized in terms of contemporary Western styles of work. Had this not happened, we might well have been saved from some of the discontents that currently afflict us. To be “socially included,” as women have been in the workforce, has many practical advantages, but it involves a spiritual loss. So far the conquerors have not destroyed the geese that lay the golden eggs, so the surface of our civilization does not reveal how profound the change has been. But underneath that surface, there are currents which no one understands. There has been a revolution, then, but a silent one. It has taken place with such stealth, and so gradually, that people have become accustomed to it little by little. I am reminded of the famous Chinese executioner whose ambition it was to be able to cut off a head so that the victim would not realize what had happened. For years he worked on his skill, and one day he cut off a head so perfectly that the victim said: “Well, when are you going to do it?” The executioner gave a beatific smile and said: “Just kindly nod.”

REVIEW OF SERPENT SYMBOLISM AS REPRESENTATIVE OF THE FEMIN VIRUS

As a general rule, snake and dragon symbolism found in mythology can predominantly be viewed through two lenses: A) Warnings by ancient peoples about the virus, symptoms of infected hosts or behaviors that might facilitate infection and B) Adoption of snake symbolism or worship by cultures which often showed high rates of infection.

Prevalent throughout a number of cultures is the depiction of snake-hunting birds such as the eagle or phoenix to symbolize the battle with the virus. Cultural understandings of snake imagery as evil may have been a factor in spurring conflict during the pre-modern era.

A) WARNINGS BY ANCIENT PEOPLES ABOUT THE VIRUS, SYMPTOMS OF INFECTED HOSTS OR BEHAVIORS THAT MIGHT FACILITATE INFECTION

There have been many speculations that number of ancient mythological legends or symbols in fact reference scientific knowledge. Just as some believe the Eye of Horus to be referring to the human thalamus portion of the brain, so too have people noted a similarity between rod and serpent imagery and human DNA. A number of variants such as the Rod of Asclepius, Bowl of Hygieia, Staff of Hermes and Kundalini existed in areas such as the Mediterranean and India.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rod_of_Asclepius
<http://archive.is/sjvAs>
<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Hermes>
<http://archive.is/1acuR>
https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bowl_of_Hygieia
<http://archive.is/oSLM6>
<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Kundalini>
<http://archive.is/YGMEF>

All of these myths appear to have stemmed from the much older Caduceus, which has a much older history that likely predates the known archaeological record. The earliest known depictions of the Caduceus are rooted in a Mesopotamian origin with the Sumerian god Ningishzida. This would date such symbolism to, at the earliest, 4000 B.C. to 3000 B.C. (though as previously stated, the myth and symbol likely predates this period).

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Caduceus>
<http://archive.is/uoPBQ>

The work “How to Kill a Dragon: Aspects of Indo-European Poetics” by Calvert Watkins similarly tracks the history of conflict sagas between heroes and dragons and suggests that many of these legends have a common Indo-European ancestor.

<https://smerdaleos.files.wordpress.com/2014/10/151964305-how-to-kill-a-dragon-by-calvin-watkins.pdf>
<http://web.archive.org/web/20171223043757/https://smerdaleos.files.wordpress.com/2014/10/151964305-how-to-kill-a-dragon-by-calvin-watkins.pdf>

The potential Mesopotamian origin helps track subsequent iterations of negative snake imagery, including depictions in the Jahwist portion of the Old Testament/Torah, use in Greek religious mythology and certain depictions in Indian legends. There are also select associations of snake imagery with destructive chaos that can be found in Chinese mythological traditions as well. These traditions and depictions are outlined below. They generally portray serpents as evil and could be interpreted to describe penalties for infection by the Femin virus as well as provide descriptions of a final conflict between survivors of the pathogen and the infected, whereby the world is destroyed and reborn again – with humanity free to finally develop without fear of self-implosion.

BIBLICAL DEPICTION

The Biblical depiction of serpentine appears to draw heavily on Mesopotamian mythology, evidenced by similarities between the Old Testament and sections of the Epic of Gilgamesh such as a flood narrative and details about immortality being stolen by a serpent.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Epic_of_Gilgamesh
<http://archive.is/ncGA0>

Looking at the Garden of Eden story in the context of describing a viral pathogen, the story could be interpreted to be describing:

- 1) Original Sin where the Snake told Eve to eat the fruit symbolizing the virus causing a civilizational implosion, whereby humanity was ruined and spread around on the Earth to fend for themselves.
- 2) A vestige of a historical account covering humanity's settling of Earth, whereby two infected members of a community within an initial "Eden" or settlement were forced out by their uninfected counterparts.
- 3) The story as a warning about allowing foreign males (the snake) into one's community to sleep with one's women.
- 4) The story as a warning about one of the ways the virus spread (infected outsiders spreading the virus to the local community).
- 5) The story intentionally using the imagery of a snake to cause people to look at other examples of snakes in different mythology.

The story also alludes to a final conflict between the "Snake" and males. Genesis 3:15 states "He shall crush thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel" in what could be interpreted to describe a Revelation-like final conflict, whereby "evil" is exterminated and the world is reborn. Similar themes exist in the Norse and Hindu traditions (outlined below). There are also examples of tribes such as the Philistines who descended from cultures where snake goddesses/gods (Minos/Mycenae etc.) were worshipped being marked for genocide at the hands of Israel. Other references to snakes as being representative of evil are well-known and not necessary to cover in detail here.

ANCIENT EGYPT

Egyptian mythology contains some variants of phoenix and dragon/sun battle imagery. Ancient scholars pinpointed Egypt as a potential source of phoenix mythology in the Mediterranean.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Phoenix_\(mythology\))
<http://archive.is/jcJ4Q>

Egyptian lore also recorded an endless battle between Apep, the "Lord of Chaos" and Ra, the sun god. Apep is most commonly depicted as a giant chaos snake, which would rise to attack Ra on his sun boat. Ra would then either ward off or slay Apep. Egyptian religious guides record instructions to burn, damage or otherwise mutilate images of Apep to ward off evil for the year and the dead were sometimes buried with spells to help defeat Apep, who was never depicted absent another god in fear that if left alone there would be no one to subdue him.

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Apep>

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ra>
<http://archive.is/gGEFE>

ANCIENT GREECE

Greek mythology includes a number of negative serpent depictions, many of which date back to earlier cultures in areas proximate to the Mediterranean and Middle East. A number of myths inherited by the Greeks from Bronze Age cultures appear to have been altered to a degree, displaying some female goddesses as demonic or otherwise negative (for a full treatise on the Bronze Age collapse, see the following link <http://archive.is/t3cvv>). And example of this might be Echidna, a half woman, half snake goddess who was the mother of monsters. This figure was inherited from earlier Bronze Age civilization. Ancient Babylonian mythology also mentions Tiamat, a monstrous embodiment of chaos portrayed with images of a sea serpent or dragon who gave birth to monsters.

<https://archive.is/38kxV>
<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tiamat>
<http://archive.is/i0mwW>

Echidna's offspring, the Lernaean Hydra, similarly incorporated serpentine elements. The hydra was depicted as being notoriously hard to slay due to the fact that if one of its heads remained intact, it could regrow others that died. The myth could be interpreted to describe the tenacity of a pathogen, re-growing each time with each attempt at eradication where any remnant was left behind.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lernaean_Hydra
<http://archive.is/VzpzF>

Medusa, with her serpentine hair and ability to turn to stone all who gazed upon her is another example in Greek culture of female snake deities as negative. Interestingly, modern feminists have attempted to "reclaim" Medusa since the 20th Century.

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Medusa>
<http://archive.is/EnnIU>

The Island of Lesbos was also strongly associated with snake and dragon imagery. Lesbos was the location described in a myth where the dragon or sea monster Cetus was loosed upon the island demanding human sacrifice, whereby the natives were decided to offer up the virgin Andromeda to Cetus.

Interestingly, in ancient times Lesbos was known as a destination for sex tourism. Local coins minted on the island sometimes depicted women with coiled serpents.

NORSE MYTHOLOGY

Norse legend is particularly influenced by serpent symbolism and the concept of a battle to defeat the serpent Jörmungandr. The legend of Jörmungandr itself draws on the concept of the ouroboros, a legend which has been traced back to Ancient Egypt and Greece, but variants of which can be found internationally in geographically isolated areas such as South America. In the context of a pathogen, the ouroboros can be interpreted to describe the endless cycle of self-destruction, only to be reborn again (playing into the symbolism of the phoenix). The ouroboros also can be interpreted in the context of population and civilization to depict the loss of knowledge gained in the previous cycle, dooming humanity to repeat the same mistakes time and time again.

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ouroboros>

<https://archive.is/ORTmM>

The legend of Jörmungandr serves both to depict historic battles, as well as allude to a final, future conflict. The Norse god Thor is described as having once gone to fish for Jörmungandr with the giant Hymr, who is constantly depicted throughout the saga as representative of a timid male. When Thor ultimately catches Jörmungandr and prepares to kill him, Hymr cuts the line and allows the serpent to escape.

When Jörmungandr ultimately releases its tail (thus breaking the infinite cycle of the ouroboros), it is said that it will rise to the surface of the water and poison the sky. At that point an epic battle will commence where Thor will ultimately kill Jörmungandr before falling, mortally wounded by his venom. The world will afterwards be reborn anew to be populated by two human survivors of the conflict.

<http://archive.is/T0bKg>

The Norse tree of life, Yggdrasil, is sometimes depicted with a serpent or Jörmungandr entwined with its roots. As Jörmungandr is understood to be poisonous, the imagery is intended to convey a message similar to the ouroboros, whereby in order for a true renewal the basis upon which the world or civilization is built must be destroyed or otherwise saved.

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Yggdrasil>
<http://archive.is/0tiBA>

EUROPEAN MYTHOLOGY

European mythology contains many hero-dragon or hero-serpent conflict stories, often inherited in some variation from older legends in the ancient world. For example, the story of Saint George and the Dragon depicts a dragon which demanded human sacrifices, with Saint George rescuing a princess chosen as the dragon's next offering. The story bears strong similarities to the Greek legend of Andromeda and the sea serpent.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Saint_George_and_the_Dragon
<http://archive.is/UDw0i>

The more modern understanding of the Chaoskampf also embodies the Indo-European, Japanese and African depictions of a cultural hero-deity battling with a chaos monster which takes the form of a serpent or dragon.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Chaos_\(cosmogony\)#Chaoskampf#Chaoskampf)
<http://archive.is/AhPvS>

HINDU MYTHOLOGY

As mentioned above, the Hindu understanding of the Kundalini incorporates serpent imagery and is speculated to reference DNA. Hindu traditions can depict a mix of positive and negative connotations of serpents, due to the fact that India is located between various regions with competing understandings of the snake. Serpents are considered positive by adherents to deities associated with Nāgas or snake imagery. Negative symbolism includes giving in to desire (Kama) which results in suffering a cycle of births and deaths, Tamas or destructive tendency, poisoned speech and misfortune.

<http://www.hinduwebsite.com/buzz/symbolism-of-snakes-in-hinduism.asp>
<http://archive.is/LSJWu>

One legend mentions Vasuki, the Serpent King snake that wraps around Shiva's neck. Lord Brahma originally banned all snakes to live only inside the earth, in the underworld. Snakes appearing on the earth's surface subsequently caused unbalance. Because of this, Vishnu looses the bird Garuda to kill Vasuki, who pleas for Shiva to save him. Vishnu and Shiva are able to reach an accord, with Shiva successfully saving an injured Vasuki.

The story bears some passing similarities to the Norse legend of Thor and Hymr, and the inclusion of a snake hunting bird is reminiscent of ancient depictions of snake-hunting phoenixes as well as more modern usage of snake-hunting eagles.

<http://archive.is/n6U0z#selection-1613.0-1789.34>

Hindu and other Indian sources also describe an eon ending conflict in their tradition of the Kali Yuga, a period of wickedness when men kill each other. The Kali Yuga will end in an epic battle between good and evil forces, whereupon a new age of righteousness will begin.

CHINA AND JAPAN

Chinese mythology has a more complex relationship with serpent/dragon imagery. The Chinese Fenghuang is an Asian adaptation of the phoenix, which is depicted as hunting snakes. Originally, Fenghuang was understood to be a combination of male (Feng) and female (Huang). The bird was portrayed as yang/order as balance to the dragon, which represented yin/chaos. The Fenghuang mythology could be found in China, Korea, Vietnam and Japan.

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fenghuang>
<http://archive.is/VKRzT>

Chinese also associated the geographic north with the tortoise and serpent. The north was historically associated in China with invasion by barbarian tribes, which commonly lead to periods of chaos in China. The Chinese annals of Khotan in Cashgar also record legends about streams which dried up upon the death of a dragon's husband, only to flow again when a male royal sacrificed themselves.

<http://archive.is/PdYwI>

https://en.wikisource.org/wiki/1911_Encyclopædia_Britannica/Serpent-worship <http://archive.is/oe1ww>

Japanese mythology includes depictions of an eight headed and eight tailed dragon, Yamata no Orochi. In multiple recorded versions of the legend, the dragon is expelled from heaven for tricking his sister, the sun goddess Amaterasu. The myth bears strong parallels to Norse, Greek and Egyptian legends, particularly the legend of the Hydra.

<http://archive.is/DYCnT>

B) ADOPTION OF SNAKE SYMBOLISM OR WORSHIP BY CULTURES WHICH OFTEN SHOWED HIGH RATES OF INFECTION

Cultures which venerated snakes or deities with serpentine imagery often displayed a number of symptoms associated with high societal Femin infection rates. These symptoms can be a combination of criteria, including human sacrifice, increasing internal conflict, cultural prevalence of sexual promiscuity, historical cultural variants of modern “women’s liberation” and decreasing birth rates. In some geographic areas such as India, one can observe a mix of both anti-Femin/snake and pro snake imagery and mythology as surrounding nations spread and mixed their cultural traditions.

A textbook example is the snake goddess worshipping Minoan society practiced human sacrifice and had a divergent culture of relations between males and females. Artwork from Minoan ruins has been interpreted as implying that towards the end of the society’s existence, birth rates may have fallen as matriarchy was worshipped absent an emphasis on child bearing. The Minoan implosion ultimately came from a Mycenaean invasion and was the initial spark in spurring the Bronze Age collapse. Surviving tribes of the collapse were marked in ancient texts such as the Bible as groups that should be quarantined and even exterminated.

<http://archive.is/t3cvv>

Cambodian mythology records Nāgas, or serpents as being the ancestors of the Khmer people. Khmer society promoted women and serpents to positions of high religious significance and has been recorded in multiple accounts as practicing human sacrifice. Khmer artwork shows a prevalence of sexual promiscuity. Chinese historians who covered the fall of the Khmer Empire and the Cambodian Dark Ages directly implied at the time that the true cause of the nation’s collapse had been omitted from official reports at the time. Interestingly, Cambodia would later go on to adopt Communism, with dictator Pol Pot engaging in systemic genocide of his own people several centuries later.

<http://archive.is/45gAp>

Central American civilizations incorporated heavy serpent worship into their religious practices, and European religious factions coming to the New World alongside conquistadors may have spurred the Spanish military on to their conquests in part because they perceived local nations as evil or worshipping the devil.

Aztec society's main deity, Quetzalcoatl, was described as a feathered serpent, a flying reptile (like a dragon) who was a boundary-maker (and transgressor) between earth and sky. This veneration, along with the Aztec practice of systemic human sacrifice was greatly disconcerting to European arrivals who conquered the civilization.

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Quetzalcoatl>
<http://archive.is/4qU1Q>

After the conquest of Mexico, Dominican friar Diego Duran reinterpreted the Aztec imagery of the eagle and serpent to represent the eagle as good, and the snake as evil/sin.

<http://archive.is/rJJhE> https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Diego_Durán
<http://archive.is/h2263>

The Dominican denomination was heavily involved with other colonial conquests. A Dominican friar and his translator have been credited as causing a breakdown in negotiations between Hernando Pizarro and the Incan Emperor Atahualpa. The standard/banner of the Incan emperors was a rainbow flanked by two parallel snakes.

Dominicans were also affiliated with an ill-fated Spanish attempt to conquer Cambodia as well in the 16th Century.

The Rockefeller family is likely one of several groups/organizations involved with discovering the Femin virus and pushing its release into the public via feminists. For a full history of the Rockefellers' and other groups' experiments with the Femin virus as a population control agent in collaboration with the CIA and Gloria Steinem, see the Pastebin below:

<http://archive.is/Fq33c>

Rockefeller money backed many of the projects, persons and institutions that broke ground in pioneering human virology to the public. Individuals trained by the Rockefeller Institute would routinely go on to work in significant roles in the field of virology. A physician at the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, Richard Shope was credited with discovering the first ever human virus, the Shope papillomavirus, in 1933. Much of this research was done with mass eugenics and population control in mind. The Carnegie-founded and Rockefeller-funded Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory maintained files on millions of Americans with the goal of removing entire families, bloodlines and whole peoples from the gene pool. It's likely that during this time, Rockefeller-tied scientists first uncovered information concerning the Femin virus.

INFILTRATION OF NAZI GERMANY

The Rockefellers were also subsequently heavily involved in bioweapons programs run by the US that brought over Nazis who had studied viruses during WWII. Many of the German scientists poached by the United States had prior relationships to Rockefeller-tied institutes or individuals.

Rockefeller-connected personnel were involved with various biological weapons programs within Germany during WWII. Such individuals included Erich Traub, Joseph Mengele and Eugen Haagen. Studies of how to weaponize viral pathogens were done against the express orders of Hitler and show that international organizations were likely infiltrating and manipulating Nazi Germany before and during WWII.

ERICH TRAUB

Erich Traub was a German virologist who received his training in the 1930's at the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in Princeton, New Jersey. He was mentored by Richard Shope during his education and performed research on vaccines and viruses, including pseudorabies virus and lymphocytic choriomeningitis virus (LCM). While in the United States he was a member of the German American Bund, a Nazi organization which had ties to Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory while operating as the Friends of New Germany Picnic Grounds.

After completing his education, Traub went on to work for the SS under Heinrich Himmler. Under the orders of Himmler and German scientist Kurt Blome, Traub worked on weaponizing pathogens such as the foot and mouth virus. Upon the completion of the war, Traub was brought over to the United States as a part of Operation Paperclip. Traub's knowledge gained during his years working at the Reich Research Institute for Virus Diseases of Animals on Riems Island provided the groundwork for the foundation of the biological weapons program at Plum Island, New York. There are allegations that a number of modern diseases originated from this facility.

EUGEN HAAGEN

Eugen Haagen spent several years working at Rockefeller affiliated institutes in the late 20's and early 30's. From 1928 to 1929, Haagen completed a guest appearance at the Rockefeller Institute in New York, where he became a government councilor in 1930 and an associate member of the Health Department of the Rockefeller Foundation. It was during this time that Haagen also met the OSS intelligence officer who would help save him from the ruins of Nazi Germany after the war.

In the 1930's Haagen returned to Germany and became the head of the German biological weapons program alongside Kurt Blome. Haagen worked in various German prison and death camps during the war, performing tests on Roma, Polish and Jewish prisoners. He was ultimately picked up by American intelligence and provided US biological weapons programs with know-how for five years.

JOSEPH MENGELE

Joseph Mengele worked as an intern under Otmar Freiherr von Verschuer in a program funded by the Rockefellers prior to his work at the Auschwitz camp. Von Verschuer's laboratory was part of the German Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Eugenics which received funding from the Rockefeller Foundation.

SS AND NAZI BIOWEAPONS PROGRAMS DEVELOPED AGAINST HITLER'S ORDERS

Efforts to test offensive bioweapons by scientists working under the auspices of the SS went directly against the orders of Hitler, who viewed it as beneath the Germans to deploy such ordinance. Hitler himself was a known germophobe who would describe Jews as a "virus" or having a virus, comparing the fight against Judaism to the work of Pasteur and Koch. All indications show that Hitler viewed pathogens as something to be eradicated, not weaponized and propagated.

<http://bigthink.com/stephen-johnson/maybe-its-no-coincidence-hitler-was-a-germaphobe>
<http://archive.is/OXv7A>

But research continued under the guise of enabling troops to defend against bioweapon attacks. It was, in fact, Heinrich Himmler who went directly against Hitler's command and ordered the creation of offensive bioweapons, often studied as a part of projects staffed by Rockefeller-trained personnel.

<http://archive.is/iNKhM>

This was not the only instance where Himmler misled or disobeyed Hitler during the war. Documents sent to Hitler by the SS concerning "already evacuated" Jews had sections discussing their "special treatment" removed at the specific request of Himmler. The evidence indicates systemic infiltration of Nazi Germany by international entities such as the Rockefeller Foundation and consistent undermining of Hitler and other Nazi leadership for the benefit of third parties.

OTHER SUPPORT FOR EUGENICS

The Rockefeller Foundation also funded and supported other means of eugenics and population control. The Foundation funded the Rodent Ecology Project at Johns Hopkins, where John B. Calhoun was hired in 1946. Calhoun's behavioral sink experiments with rats were revolutionary and the momentum caused by his conclusions would be used in 1973 by the Rockefeller Commission to justify calls for slowing or even reversing population growth.

COVERUP OF BIOWEAPONS ACTIVITIES AND CIA COLLABORATION

The Rockefellers were later involved with efforts to block the release of information concerning bioweapons programs, their collaboration with the CIA and aspects of the CIA's program to attack the black civil rights movement while using feminism to target the black community with a bioweapon for the purpose of population control.

The infamous Rockefeller Commission was enacted after growing public outcry over the CIA's domestic activities. The family was able to embed Nelson Rockefeller within the Ford Administration as Vice President. Rockefeller oversaw the cover up of information related to bioweapons programs, the targeting and likely assassination of Martin Luther King Jr. by the FBI and ensure that only a limited amount of information was released on other CIA programs such as Project MKULTRA.

Gloria Steinem is an operative of the CIA who has spent her career intentionally starting subversive movements which were controlled/infiltrated by the agency with the intent to weaken ideologies or movements. Her greatest and most damaging efforts have been in the promotion of feminism.

Steinem was initially recruited by the CIA front organization Independent Research Service/Independent Service for Information and also worked with the CIA front National Student Association as part of the agency's efforts to target student organizations and education centers for Marxist radicalization.

Individuals connected to Steinem were tied to Cord Meyer, a senior CIA operative notorious for funding covert operations, sometimes with funding from third party groups such as the Ford and Rockefeller Foundations. He was also connected to the Watergate break-in. Another Steinem associate, Charles Douglas (C.D.) Jackson, was a propagandist and expert on psychological warfare who played a key role in establishing the Bilderberg Group and ensuring American participation.

She also took a trip to India after college on scholarship as a "Chester Bowles Asian Fellow" but the scholarship was discontinued after she and another student had their trips funded. Bowles was a Yale graduate and former ambassador who is known to have affiliated with the Council on Foreign Relations.

One of the most heinous projects she has been involved in was the spread of a virus ("Femin" virus) weaponized by the CIA, which had an accelerated proliferation due to the promotion of social and lifestyle habits associated with feminism. The operation appears to have been both a CIA attempt to destroy the black civil rights movement as well as gather data on the effectiveness of the population control potential of the virus.

This operation was multi-faceted and took place over a number of years. To allow for the spread of "women's empowerment" ideology which would both facilitate and distract attention from high infection rates of the bioweapon, the CIA first moved to target strong male leaders within the black community. Individuals such as Malcolm X (murdered in 1965) and Martin Luther King Jr. (murdered 1968) were first neutralized. As this was happening, Vietnam created the perfect opportunity for a disproportionate amount of black men to be drafted and shipped abroad. This would both thin their numbers as casualties in war but also prevent them from being present to stop feminist behavior which was intended to help spread the virus.

Steinem was intimately connected the entire time – she dated Stanley Pottinger, the Justice Department official who delayed the investigation into MLK's death for years before finding "no links to the FBI."

With all major figures removed and black manpower seriously absent, Steinem was finally deployed. She released her "groundbreaking" piece "After Black Power, Women's Liberation" which was specifically designed to turn black women against their men, promote feminism and undermine civil rights.

><http://nymag.com/news/politics/46802/>
><http://archive.is/VGASK>

The virus was spread due to the social habits promoted by feminism (sexual promiscuity, use of birth control, excessive alcohol/drug use, other miscellaneous negative lifestyle choices etc.) and totally decimated the black community. As the virus manifested in a greater number of hosts, it also continued to cause and reinforce these kinds of harmful behaviors. In 1960, prior to the virus' release, 2/3 of black children were born into a two-parent household. Today, 2/3 of black children are now instead born into single parent households. The CIA further accelerated this process with other operations such as engaging in trafficking of drugs with the intent to target black communities.

One facility suspected of involvement in research of the virus is Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory. Research carried out at the facility in the 50's and 60's is consistent with the CIA's weaponization of Steinem against the US population and civil rights movement. For example, in 1952 the "Waring blender experiments" of Alfred Hershey and Martha Chase confirmed DNA as the genetic material, and Alfred Hershey shared a Nobel Prize with Salvador Luria and Max Delbrück in 1969, "for their discoveries concerning the replication mechanism and the genetic structure of viruses."

The CIA has long had a relationship with Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory. Psychiatrist Harold A. Abramson of the Cold Spring Harbor Biological Laboratory proposed an $85,000 study to the CIA on the effects of LSD on unwitting hospital patients as part of the CIA's MKULTRA program. Funding for the project was funneled through the Macy Foundation.
